S-C Speech Member Wins In Contest

The Smith-Cotton High School speech team shared honors with Rockhurst of Kansas City and St. Peter's of Jefferson City in Class III of the Central Missouri State College spring contests at Warrensburg Saturday. Among about 15 schools competing for awards in five separate events, only the three schools had speakers who won first place ratings qualifying them to represent the Central Missouri District in the state tournament.

Smith-Cotton's lone first place rating was won by Wayne Brown in the radio speaking event. He received a certificate for his first place win and will be one of the five certificate winners in the Class III schools district to compete in the state speech contests at Missouri University, Columbia, on April 14.

The schools participating in the three-day tournament were separated into three classes: Class I for schools with enrollment under 100; Class II for schools with enrollment of between 100 and 500; and Class III for schools of over 500 enrollment.

Rockhurst's No. 1 ratings were in public speaking, verse reading and extemporaneous reading while Jeff City St. Peter's won in prose reading.

The system of rating the speakers was broken down in three divisions: No. 1, 2 and 3 ratings in the top division, followed by a second division and a third division.

Other Smith-Cotton speakers finished thus: Marcia Rissler, No. 3 in top division for prose reading; Patty Moore, second division placing in verse reading; Tony Welch, second division in public speaking; and Lex Goldberg, third division in extemporaneous reading.

The judge for the contests Saturday was Dr. Harold Svanoe of Central College, Fayette.

The Smith-Cotton speech team was accompanied by their coach, Mrs. Anna L. Sawford who is a member of the state and district committee on speech contests.

Take a Look Around

It's supposed to warm up today—not bad for a drive around town and seeing how many buildings have gone up or are being constructed. Sedalia's growing, there's no doubt about it. See the progress report on this page.

CENTRAL MISSOURI — Fair and warm today and Monday; high today around 60.

British Order Curfew In Main Cyprus Cities

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 24—British authorities today ordered a curfew in all the principal cities of Cyprus to prevent possible outbreaks of violence tomorrow when Greek Cypriots observe Greek independence day.

The curfew is effective from 4 a.m. tomorrow, and bars all persons from the streets until further notice unless they have special passes.

No church services will be held Sunday. All commercial plane flights in and out of Cyprus tomorrow also were cancelled.

District Demo Women Convene In Sedalia

The Eleventh Congressional District Women's Democratic clubs met in Sedalia Friday at which time Mrs. Walter Cramer, 701 West Fourth, was elected the district president. She succeeds Mrs. Tom R. Douglas of Mc Bain.

The Saline and Pettis County clubs were host to the district meeting which was held at the Bothwell Hotel at which time Wilbur Daniels, Fayette, Democratic state chairman, was the principal speaker. Chairman Daniels spoke of the need of the Women's Club and of their activities in the political campaigns.

The speaker also spoke briefly on the state and national elections coming up this November.

Other officers elected to the Eleventh District organization were: vice-presidents, Mrs. Gerald Oswald, Booneville, Mrs. Juanita Benson, Sturgeon, Mrs. Olive Slaughter, Randolph County, Mrs. Wilbur Daniels, Fayette, and Mrs. Craig Edwards, Centralia; recording secretary, Mrs. James Davis, Jefferson City; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mabel Chambers, Sedalia; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Thomas, Nelson; and auditor, Miss Verna Lee Norman, Tipton.

Windsor Newspaper Editor Named To Head Demo Press Editors

JEFFERSON CITY, March 24—James C. Kirkpatrick, publisher and editor of the Windsor Mo. Weekly Review, today was named president of a new organization of Missouri Democratic press editors.

Kirkpatrick is a former editor of the Jefferson City Post-Tribune and served as secretary to former Gov. Forrest Smith before going to Windsor.

Other officers elected today by the new organization: Edgar Blanton of the Shelbina Democrat, vice-president; Mrs. Kathleen Miles of the Benton County Enterprise, Warsaw, secretary; and Lane Davis of the Houston Herald, treasurer.

Recruiter Will Be Here For Coast Guard

The recruiter for the United States Coast Guard will be in Sedalia on March 26.

It is planned that he will visit Ed Miller, student guidance counselor at Smith-Cotton, after which time he will be at the local post office to give information to those men between 17 and 25 years of age.

Whiteman AFB Gives $18,140 To United Fund

A total of $18,140 was collected in the two-month long United Fund drive which ended at Whiteman Air Force Base Thursday.

The drive was called a success by Col. Charles V. Neil, base commander.

Both military and civilian personnel at Whiteman, an Eighth Air Force installation of the Strategic Air Command, contributed to the drive.

Funds received will be distributed among the surrounding towns of Sedalia, Warrensburg, LaMonte and Knob Noster. National charities such as the Red Cross and Salvation Army, along with local Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, also will benefit.

Housing Construction At WAFB Begins Soon

KANSAS CITY, March 25—A contract to build 400 family housing units at the Whiteman Air Force Base near Knob Noster, Mo., was awarded Friday to the J. W. Bateson Construction Co., Dallas.

Army engineers said Bateson will begin work within 10 days on the $6,035,994 contract.

The wood frame buildings will be single story and will include 165 duplexes and 30 single family units.

Symington Support Up In Demo Race Gains Strength As Contender For Presidential Bid

CHICAGO, March 24—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) appeared today to be gathering strength as a dark horse contender for the Democratic presidential nomination after Adlai E. Stevenson's upset defeat in Tuesday's Minnesota primary.

Stevenson and his supporters indicated in interviews they regard Symington as perhaps more of a threat to their own aspirations than Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who whipped Stevenson in Minnesota.

The Stevenson camp does not dismiss Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, as a possible nominee if Stevenson suffers further primary defeats that might knock him out of the race.

It is the apparent feeling of Stevenson's supporters, however, that a dark horse nominee is more likely to emerge in that event, and Symington seems to come first to their minds.

Rightly or wrongly, many Democratic leaders feel that even if Kefauver wins primaries in Florida and California, he may be denied the nomination at the August party convention here. They would look for a repetition of 1952 events.

Four years ago, Kefauver led in the early balloting at the convention but lost the nomination to Stevenson, who said he wasn't running for it.

Stevenson is putting all the chips down in an effort to stop Kefauver's popular vote surge cold in the May 29 Florida and June 5 California primaries.

Symington, former secretary of the Air Force, has kept to the sidelines thus far. He has directed most of his efforts into an attack on the Eisenhower administration's defense program.

Symington's campaign on this score doesn't seem to have caught on politically. But more will be heard on the subject from a Senate Armed Services subcommittee Symington heads.

The personable and handsome Missouri senator isn't regarded by his colleagues as any stump campaign fireball. Nor does he have any wide base of political support within the party.

But all this could change quickly if former President Truman should give Symington a nod, or if Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) should indicate public support for the Missourian.

St. Louis University Has New Institute Of Technology Dean

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Rev. Victor J. Blum, S. J., is the new dean of St. Louis University's institute of technology. He succeeds the late Rev. James B. MacElwane, S. J.

The Rev. Blum, associate dean of the institute since 1950, is a protégé of Dr. MacElwane, internationally known geophysicist who died Feb. 15.

The institute offers programs of study in engineering and earth sciences on both undergraduate and graduate levels. Its present enrollment is 413 students.

FIVE ROOM HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE—It was 1:15 a.m. Saturday when a Sedalia Police Patrol was riding down West Third Street near Liberty Park when they noted smoke. Investigation disclosed a fire at 1225 West Third Street, about 1:15 a.m. Saturday. Fire department officials estimated the loss to be about $3,000 to the residence and $1,500 to the contents. The house was occupied by Gordon E. Norton and family. Damages of $250 resulted to the J. A. Cramer residence in the right of the picture from the fire. (Staff photo)

Fire Destroys Norton Home Saturday Police Officers Find Fire; Home Next Door Damaged

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Norton, 1225 West Third Street, about 1:15 a.m. Saturday. Fire department officials estimated the loss to be about $3,000 to the residence and $1,500 to the contents.

Alertness of Officers Edwin Davis and Edgar Thomas, in noting smoke drifting across Third Street south of Liberty Park led them to start investigating and they discovered the flames coming from the residence.

They radioed to police headquarters and from there the fire alarm was turned in. By the time the fire companies arrived, the house was a mass of flames inside and out.

Night Chief of Police Ted Gardner, who arrived before the fire companies, went to the back of the house to see if anyone might be in the rear. As he opened the back door the flames shot out in his face, scorching his eyebrows.

A line of hose had to be laid from Main and Park to get water to fight the fire.

Damages of about $250 resulted to the home of J. A. Cramer, 1227 West Third, when the east side of the house caught fire from the Norton residence. Mr. and Mrs. Cramer were routed from their home by the police and taken to a police car to stay until the fire was extinguished.

During the excitement only a small crowd of neighbors gathered, while several motorists were attracted to the scene by the red glow in the sky caused by the leaping flames.

Melvin Norton, 1215 West Third, told officers his brother and family were at home in the early part of Friday night and had prepared to retire about 9 o'clock. When they left home was not known to him. No one was there at the time of the fire.

Officers first said the body apparently was that of a boy, but Deputy Coroner Jack Souter said later it definitely was a girl.

Souter estimated the child had been dead about 30 days. The cause of death could not be determined without an autopsy, he said.

The child was about three feet tall, weighing about 50 pounds, wore a yellow T-shirt with brown stripes around the middle, long brown trousers and brown shoes, he said.

Officers said no child of such description has been reported missing in this area.

A man collecting stones for his rock garden found the body under a pile of rocks. Besides the blanket, the body was wrapped in a sheet and a chenille bedspread.

$1,500 Goes to Local Center—Easter Seals Are Mailed, Goal for Year Is $5,000

This past week many Sedalians received Easter seals to be used on cards and letters during the Easter season. Those who received them are asked to use them proudly and be sure to mail in a check for these little seals that mean so much to crippled children and adults, too, for that matter.

Even though you feel it is not possible to give a dollar, dimes and quarters add up to dollars. John C. McCloskey, Easter Seal chairman points out, and whatever gift anyone can afford is needed.

The goal is $5,000 this year and $1,500 of this will be given to the Crippled Children's Center at Bothwell Hospital. From the money, too, come many other services in Pettis County the purchase of crutches, braces, wheel chairs, payment of transportation costs for children to go to a hospital or clinic, and the planning with the county societies and other agencies for medical and surgical aid. All these services must be increased to meet the demands of the increase in handicapped children. There are other direct services provided day by day with no two problems quite the same.

Children of the community have already played a part in the Easter Seal sale, Girl Scouts and Brownies have stuffed the envelopes to be mailed out and that is a big job. Then, too, under the direction of George Thompson, an Easter Seal School Drive is underway in Sedalia.

Now it is time for grownups to do their share and buy as many Easter seals as they feel they can to help reach this year's goal of $5,000.

See Another Heated Battle On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, March 24—Another long and heated battle on farm price supports is in prospect for both Senate and House.

A conference committee composed of five members from each chamber will meet Monday afternoon to start work on a compromise between the farm bill passed by the Senate last Monday and one passed by the House last year.

The House voted a three-year restoration of rigid price supports on basic crops, to replace the lower, flexible formula won by the Eisenhower administration in 1954.

The Senate bill, while not providing for a return to the 90 per cent supports voted by the House, contains numerous provisions which would raise the support levels for major crops in other ways. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson say the Senate bill is unsound and unworkable. Benson predicts a veto unless drastic changes are made.

Most Congress members expect the Senate-House conference group will end up recommending a restoration of rigid supports along with the new $1,200,000,000 a year soil bank program requested by the administration. The soil bank, a plan designed to cut down on crop surpluses by paying farmers to divert land to other uses, is not in controversy.

The conference committee's recommendations will have to be passed on by the House and Senate before a bill can be sent to the White House. Hence the predictions of another prolonged floor battle.

Body Of Youth Found Under Rock Pile In KC

KANSAS CITY, March 24—The blanket-wrapped body of a girl from four to six years old was found under a pile of rocks in a gully at the south edge of Kansas City today.

Officers first said the body apparently was that of a boy, but Deputy Coroner Jack Souter said later it definitely was a girl.

Souter estimated the child had been dead about 30 days. The cause of death could not be determined without an autopsy, he said.

The child was about three feet tall, weighing about 50 pounds, wore a yellow T-shirt with brown stripes around the middle, long brown trousers and brown shoes, he said.

Officers said no child of such description has been reported missing in this area.

A man collecting stones for his rock garden found the body under a pile of rocks. Besides the blanket, the body was wrapped in a sheet and a chenille bedspread.

Progress Report Is Given Sedalia Leads State In Demand Deposits; Estimate Population Growth of 5,000

"Sedalia led the state of Missouri in 1955 in increase in demand deposits of individuals, partnerships, corporations and government," it was revealed here Friday by Jack L. Faber, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

"This meant we had a greater percentage increase in money circulation than any other city during the year compared with 1954," Faber added.

Speaking before the Sedalia Association of Life Underwriters at their monthly meeting at the Pacific Cafe, Faber told of the fine economic progress made by Sedalia last year.

"Sedalia had a gain of 14.2 per cent in demand deposits in 1955 over that of 1954 with $179,754,000 total deposits last year," Faber commented. "This figure did not include savings accounts in banks and loan institutions, other investments, or Government savings bonds." According to the executive manager, it is also interesting to note that it is estimated about 35 per cent of the people in Sedalia do no have checking accounts, and the money those people were responsible for circulating could not be counted in the survey since the total figure is unknown.

In comparison with other cities Kansas City had an increase of 9.1 per cent; St. Louis, 9 per cent; Joplin, 9.2 per cent; St. Joseph, 1.8 per cent; and Hannibal, 9.9 per cent. This, according to Faber, indicates that buying is fluid in Sedalia and is a healthy situation. All occupational groups and businesses are benefitting from it.

Another signpost that Sedalia is enjoying a prosperous and progressive economy is that in 1954, the last year that such figures were available, Sedalia showed terrific strides in the retail field and income in its relationship to retail sales. This was revealed by comparing 1949 with 1954. In effective buying income, for instance, the figures show that there was $24,842,000 in 1949 compared with $30,119,000 in 1954. Other correlations reflected that in 1949 there was $2,993 available per family for retail buying, while in 1954 this figure had increased to $4,242.

Total retail sales in Sedalia in 1949 ran $27,270,000 while in 1954 this had jumped to $31,373,000. A measuring stick in this field is known as the Quality of Market Index and Sedalia had a 13 per cent increase during the period. This was greater than many metropolitan areas, not to speak of cities of comparative size with Sedalia.

Faber mentioned that one way to measure a city's orderly growth is to take a look at Sedalia's utilities. In 1955, the Missouri Public Service Co. invested $482,650 in the community, representing a sizeable increase over the 1954 figure of $360,625. This only included the capital investment and not payrolls, local purchases of material and equipment, and other money spent in the community.

In 1954, there were 7,985 electric meters in Sedalia and in 1955 the records showed 8,293. He added that in order that existing houses and new houses and businesses be provided with gas service, the Missouri Public Service Co. invested $143,936 in 1955 over $125,482 the preceding year. Gas customers in 1954 were 7,025 and in 1955 there were 7,494.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. had, at the end of 1955, some 10,103 telephones in service in Sedalia for a gain of 481 during the year. During the same period the telephone company invested $73,250 to provide local service. Over 400 new telephone numbers were added to the switchboard along with ten trunks from the local board to the long distance board. Faber also pointed out further that the capital investment in Sedalia by the telephone company was only the beginning when one considers the new building to be erected in Sedalia by the company.

The Sedalia Water Co. in its operation also showed faith in Sedalia. (Please turn to page 8 column 6)

Northeast US Hit By Third Storm In Nine Days

NEW YORK, March 24—Spring had a tough time breaking out anywhere in the Northeast today as the third snowstorm in nine days belted the area.

The new storm, coming in the wake of last weekend's crippling blizzards, left at least six dead, brought temperatures tumbling down and added to the work of snow-weary highway crews.

New England and Upper New York State bore the brunt of it this time. Most main highways were kept open, but driving was reported hazardous in many places.

The storm closed airports in Boston and Worcester, halted racing for the ninth time in less than three weeks at Lincoln Downs near Providence, R. I. and forced the second cancellation of Boston's St. Patrick's Day parade.

The weatherman at Portland, Maine packed up and decided to go to Florida—as soon as he digs his car out. He had reason to.

The new storm laid an 8.1 inch snow blanket over last week's accumulation of 17 inches and set a new March record of 42.6 inches for Portland. The old record, set in 1902, was 41 inches.

Catholic Priest Teaches 200,000 Pupils Each Day

SCHOOLROOM IN THE ANDES: An old man and two youngsters diligently follow their lessons in Colombia's school of the air.

By NEA Foreign Service
BOGOTA, Colombia — (NEA) — Two hundred thousand pupils in one class is a large order for one teacher, especially if pupils are scattered among almost inaccessible mountains, range from children to old men and only one in three can read.

But Father Jose Joaquin Salcedo, a young Catholic priest, takes it in his stride every day at 6 a.m. to open the doors of learning to thousands of Colombia's "campesinos."

His program is called Accion Cultural Popular, achieved with the financial aid of the Colombian government and the knowhow of experts from the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. His text books are radios in some 6,000 homes in the remote Andes.

Father Salcedo began his school in 1948 in a mountain parish with an amateur radio transmitter and only three receivers for an audience. By broadcasting the peasants' own voices back to them, he soon won over whole communities.

Today Accion Cultural Popular has the most powerful transmitter in Colombia, broadcasts for six hours a day to an audience expected to reach a million in the near future. It is one of the world's largest programs of adult education by radio.

On the theory that education should not be a complete giveaway, Father Salcedo sells a set and its batteries to village schools, usually rooms in homes, for the $18 cost price. With it goes free chalk, an eraser, textbooks — and an alarm clock to tell when to turn on the set.

Once the sets are turned on, there's no chance of missing the lesson. They can receive only one station — Accion Cultural Popular.

Symington Charges Government Is Not Stockpiling Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) charged Friday that due to an administration "blind spot" the government is not stockpiling food in the strategic stockpile.

In a speech to the animal health institute, Symington said: "Although we have billions of dollars of so-called strategic minerals and metals, we do not have a pound of food" in federal stockpiles. Symington said there is no general knowledge about the possible shortage of food during a modern air-atomic attack because of "a cloak of secrecy around its (administration) stockpile plans."

Baby Girl Dies After Taking Lighter Fluid

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A 14-month-old girl, apparently the victim of cigarette lighter fluid, died Friday at City Hospital.

She was Sandra Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ward of St. Louis. Mrs. Ward said the baby fell from a chair at their home Thursday.

Nearby, she said, was a half-empty can of lighter fluid and the odor of the fluid was noticed on the child's breath.

Man's Body Is Fond Crushed by Oil Drum

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The body of a man, identified as Henry Barney, 35, St. Louis, was found Friday night, crushed by a one-ton fuel oil drum in a grocery store.

Police said a window above the body had been forced open and that a screwdriver was found in the victim's hand.

Neighbors, who heard a crash and a cry for help, discovered the body.

New Harmless Cosmetics for Youngsters

Like mother, sister is moved to pretty herself up when spring comes. Several new children's toiletries can help her to do the necessary jobs while offering some grown-up tasks as a reward. Manicure tray (left) has pink polish, remover, lotion, cuticle cream, emery boards, scissors and a cleaner. Carry-all (center) has a compact, colorless lipstick, powder and a comb. Toilet water (right) is sweet, but light, and has its own atomizer for grown-up application.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

When spring comes, little sister cleans out her playhouse, just as mother cleans out the entire home. Mom gets a permanent, Sis may want a new hair ribbon.

If a little girl has any impulse toward sissying herself up, spring is the time it will appear. A new bonnet may inspire her to great heights with soap and a washcloth. New shoes may impel her to have her toenails cut. A bonbon pretty dress may inspire her to borrow a squirt of mother's Grusomely Dangerous perfume at three dollars a squirt.

If a child can possibly get a desire for grown-up habits of grooming, spring is the time. Strike while the iron is tepid. Let her have her own toilet water, since you can be sure this way that she will not be as aromatic as the town menace.

A fingernail kit that includes small scissors, emery board and cuticle pusher, in addition to the coveted nail polish (in a pale shade), can be a help.

Don't make the mistake of thrusting the child off to her room to "polish her nails" if she complains of nothing to do. This will make it a task, not fun. Let her do her grooming tasks when you do yours. She'll brush her hair more vigorously if she's allowed to do it in your room while you do, too. Help her, show her and let her do it when it seems like fun. Good habits lie this way.

Even Honest People Break Traffic Laws

"There are a great many people who wouldn't think of stealing even one penny, because it is a violation of the law to steal. Yet, many of these same people do violate other laws without a thought to the right or wrong of it." The Missouri Highway Patrol superintendent had these words to say in speaking of traffic violations that are occurring on Missouri highways and streets.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner said that he had personally witnessed traffic violations made by persons who would never think of violating other laws.

"Many drivers," he said, "make errors simply because they have never taken the trouble to become acquainted with traffic laws, others violate traffic regulations because they do not believe they are important or their driving ability may be so poor that they are unable to drive without violating the law."

Col. Waggoner said that one violation that have proven to be dead is the act of cutting corners at curves.

On undivided highways every driver is required to drive within the right hand lane except when passing or in making a left turn. This rule holds true on curves as well as the straight of way.

The act of cutting into the left lane when turning left or swerving into the left lane when turning right is a deadly and dangerous habit.

Col. Waggoner said that 7,301 violations of this nature caused traffic accidents on Missouri highways and streets last year and 403 of the violations caused fatal accidents.

Col. Waggoner said, "Knowing and obeying traffic laws is every driver's duty. Violations of traffic laws and violation of common sense rules result in traffic tragedy."

Bookmobile Schedules Are Being Prepared for Summer

Summertime bookmobile schedules are being prepared now at Boonslick Regional Library. The school program is continued from September through May. During June, July and August there is a complete change in schedule to eliminate the long school stops in the larger communities and to pick up outlying community stops in some instances. This makes it easier for boys and girls to meet the bookmobile near their homes.

All persons who believe that there should be a bookmobile stop in their community are asked to get in touch with Miss Verna Nistendirk, Boonslick Regional Librarian, Sedalia, by phone or by letter within the next two weeks in order to be included in the schedule this summer. Suggestions should include the best place for the bookmobile to stop (where there is some shade) and exact directions for getting there. An estimate of the number of persons who might use that bookmobile stop would be appreciated.

A summer reading program for boys and girls will be started as soon as school is out but details are not completed.

The film program and the 35 mm filmstrips will be available throughout the summer months. Many new viewmaster reels will interest boys and girls. Within the next few weeks a number of new phonograph records should be available.

Two Boonslick Regional Library Board members, the Rev. G. S. Birkhead and Charles A. Repp, attended the district library trustees meeting in Rolla on Friday, March 23. Rev. Birkhead presented a paper on "How do Libraries Consolidate their Resources." This was prepared by Edgar C. Nelson who was unable to attend the meeting because he is recovering from an automobile accident. Rev. Birkhead is secretary-treasurer of the Trustees Division of the Missouri Library Association and chairman of the Boonslick Municipal Library Board. Charles A. Repp is chairman of the Boonslick Regional Library Board.

This week's bookmobile schedule Tuesday, March 27: Brown, 9:00-9:30; LaMonte, 9:45-2:45; LaMonte, 2:45-3:30.

Monday, April 2: Concord, 9:40-10:30; Billingsville, 10:45-11:15; Prairie Lick, 11:30-12:00; Speed, 1:00-1:30; Bellair, 1:45-2:15; Mullett's, 2:30-3:00.

Pope Receives Gift Of Palm Leaves As Holy Week Nears

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII received an artistic gift of palm leaves Saturday as the Christian world prepared to observe the Holy Week anniversary of Christ's suffering, death and resurrection.

The palms, worked into the shape of a monstrance and decorated with a painting of a singing angel, were brought to the pontiff by the superior general of the Camaldolese religious order in Rome.

The Roman Catholic observance of Holy Week throughout the world by Vatican decree that becomes effective tomorrow, will be more austere and solemn than in the past. The decree, issued by the Vatican's Congregation of Rites upon the express orders of the pontiff, returns some holy week observances to their more ancient procedure.

The Lenten fast, for example, will continue until midnight of Holy Saturday instead of ending at noon Saturday as it has for years.

Petty Officer Moon is presently the chauffeur for Rear Admiral Watkins. He served as chauffeur for Real Admirals F. D. Wagner, C. A. F. Sprague, G. C. Crawford, prior to his present assignment.

Public Library Notes—

Books Available on Auto History at Public Library

Automobile history is made attractive to both old and young in the many books at the Sedalia Public Library which offer widely assorted data about the old cars, from the one- and two- cylinder contraptions that made their first appearance around the turn of the century to the flashy models of the late '20s.

To the middle aged readers, they revive memories of the dust and duster days, and to the young (who take the automobile for granted) they reveal how it got its start and the changes it went through from steam to electricity and, finally, to gasoline propulsion.

The progress of the American automobile and automobile industry from 1900 is presented in such books as "The American Automobile Album," by W. H. McGaughey and "Those Wonderful Old Automobiles," by Floyd Clymer.

In "Fill'er Up" Bellamy Partidge offers a pleasant blending of the scholarly and the humorous in a book which gives first-hand facts by a pioneer who has lived through 50 years of motoring in America. "Treasury of Early American Automobiles, 1877-1925," by Floyd Clymer, includes automobile celebrities of the period Barney Oldfield, Charles Glidden, and Gus Edwards, who wrote the ever popular song, "In My Merry Oldsmobile."

Another recent book, "Tin Lizzy," by Philip Stern makes timely reading as interest is currently focused on Henry Ford, his philanthropic work, and the sale of Ford automobile stock. About the Model T Ford it includes, in addition to the history of the car, many photographs, jokes, songs and ads which pertain to it.

The library also has many helpful books on the repair and maintenance of automobiles.

Army Records Mixup Scares a Housewife

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An hour after Mrs. Richard J. Berry of suburban Lemay sent her husband off to work last week she received a letter from the Missouri Military District saying that he was dead. She quickly called her husband, a Korean War veteran, and was assured he was alive.

Friday it was explained as a mixup in the Quartermaster General Memorial Division. Berry had filed a request for a grave marker for the couple's infant daughter, who died Feb. 11 and was buried in the Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery.

By mistake Berry was listed as the deceased person.

Every National and Geographic Division Of Northern Hemisphere Has Native Rose

By MRS. J. W. ROGER Garden Club 2

Over the world grow roses and there are 90 genera of the plant that differ in habits, form and character, but still they all come from the rose family. The beautiful flowering trees of the spring belong to their family, the apple, pear, quince, peach, plum and cherry, and then the berries, the raspberry, blackberry and strawberry and even spirea and geum.

Of the genus rosa there are more than 100 species and there are native roses in every national, geologic and geographic division of the northern hemisphere. Even for plants not related to the rose is the name used, like the Christmas rose, rose of Sharon and rock rose.

It was Theophrastus, the Greek philosopher and naturalist, in about 350 B.C., who noted that roses, known to the Greeks as "the perfume of the Gods" differed in the number of petals, with some having a hundred while others had only 12 and some just five. He noted, too, that there was a difference in the beauty, the sweetness and the color.

During the time of the Pharaohs there was no record left of roses in Egypt, but later, for great Roman festivals, quantities were shipped from Egypt and Macedonia.

Twelve kinds of roses were described by Pliny, who was a Roman scholar and naturalist of the first century A.D. He tells of the rose of Cyrena with double flowers and sweetest scent, which was probably the Damask rose, some of which were found in the Pompeian excavation.

Early races of Asia, and the Greeks and Romans, used rose water and fresh oil of dried rose petals for perfume. It is believed that the essential oil contained in roses was accidentally discovered in ancient Persia. Nearly 3,000 pounds of petals are necessary to produce a pound of rose oil. The types of roses used as the chief source are damask, gallica, alba and rugosa roses.

The roses grown in today's garden are divided into different, loosely-defined classes and include hybrid perpetual, hybrid tea, rambler and polyantha and the development of the modern rose started early in the past century.

The Bengal or China roses are mostly dwarf, slender and branching and have recurrent crops of delicate cupped flowers, such as "Glorie des Rosemandes" or ragged robin.

The tea roses chiefly descended from strains of Rosa odrata and are loose, open-cupped, sweet-scented and perpetual flowering. The crushed leaves have a tea scent, which gives the name.

Hybrid perpetuals, it is thought, originated from the Rosa gallica and Damask roses crossed and recrossed with forms of Bengal. The plants are hardy with little protection in most northern states and the flowers are clear and large, but do not include yellow in color.

Hybrid teas are the everblooming roses which were originated from a combination of tea and hybrid perpetuals. In 1867 the first, "La France," was produced which was followed by an endless parade of varieties. It was by blending the Persian Yellow in 1900 by M. J. Pernet-Ducher of Lyons, that brought the yellow-copper-pink blendings of roses like the Talisman.

Polyanthas were at first dwarf forms of the Rosa multiflora. The bushes are compact, with single or double flowers not much over 1½ inches in diameter. Between the polyanthas and hybrid teas is a taller growing, larger flower class known as floribunda, or hybrid polyantha roses.

No roses are truly climbers but those with exceptionally long canes are called climbers, pillar or rambler and are grouped into the large-flowered and rambler. The rambler has long, slender, pliable canes that trail on the ground if not supported and, except for the glossy foliage, are hardly distinguishable from the slender hybrids of Rosa multiflora such as Dorothy Perkins.

The pillar rose grows from five to eight feet tall, with large stiff stems, such as the Paul Scarlet.

Then there is still another type known as the large-flowered climber, varying in size and habits. This extends its growth year after year, with the best growth on new lateral from old canes. The last 25 years or so has added to this variety of climber a new and very satisfying quality of blooming throughout the season, some profusely, others at intervals.

Nothing gives more charm to the garden than roses, in whatever form they may be grown.

'Polish Tea Party' Gives Warsaw Reds Indigestion

"TEA PARTY" HOST is Karol Dorwska, noted comedian in pre-war Polish theatre, here broadcasting from Munich.

By NEA Foreign Service

MUNICH, Germany—(NEA)—A Sunday afternoon "Polish Tea Party" is giving the Communist regime in Warsaw acute indigestion these days.

Host for the party is a simple peasant boy named "Katjus," star of a musical variety show broadcast to Poland each week from Radio Free Europe studios in Munich. Katjus, played by Polish comedian Karol Dorwska, greets his audience by shouting "Czesc," and reports from Poland say it's fast replacing the traditional "Halo" when friends meet on the streets of Warsaw.

"Tea Party" has just begun its fourth year of netting the Polish Red government. Its characters and script are patterned after a pre-war Polish comedy program, and listeners in Poland recognize voices that were once familiar friends on their home radio.

Katjus is a crafty peasant boy who ridicules Communist officialdom with earthy humor. When Polish President Bierut was called to Moscow (where he died just recently) Katjus confided to his listeners that "they say something Bierut agreed with is eating him."

Two gossiping housewives named Mrs. Lipowa and Mrs. Mietowa are other favorites on the program. Their dialogue goes like this:

Mrs. L.: "Did you hear that the Minister of Production of motorcycles will be doubled?"

Mrs. M.: "So! Then we will all ride on motorcycles to stand in line for trips?"

Salesman in Stalled Elevator Stays on Job

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Roy Mayo, a St. Louis real estate salesman, is a man who knows what to do with a captive audience.

Trapped for 15 minutes Friday between floors in a department store elevator with 13 other persons, Mayo spent the time handing out his business cards and trying to sell houses.

There were no immediate sales, he said later, "but something might develop."

The elevator at the downtown store finally was lowered mechanically.

Tops At Bottom

WAYNESBORO, Va. (AP)—Mystified Waynesboro city workers retrieved 16 garbage can lids from the bottom of South river. More were at the bottom, too deep to be reached.

How'd they know about it? The cans themselves were still in the back yards of irate householders who flooded city hall with complaints.

Hot Water

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Marie Accardi's well suddenly began giving hot water and all kinds of theories were advanced, including one that her house was located over a hot spring.

But Henry Teare, the man who installed the well pump, was called in and quickly discovered a short in the pump motor was sending electricity through the water and heating it, sometimes to a temperature as high as 195 degrees.

If their populations continue to increase at the present rates, the Latin American countries will have 500 million people 45 years hence compared to about 181 million today.

Plastics Add Many Practical Qualities And New Style to Bedroom Furnishings

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Entering the boudoir with a good deal of dash is that darling of the mid-twentieth century home, plastic.

The presence of melamine plastic and its flexible cousins in bedroom furnishings has been noted before, but what lends interest this spring is the style with which their practical qualities are put to use in modern and traditional styles.

Melamine, for example, is a rigid, super-smooth, often beautifully colored member of the family that established its reputation as a topping for counters and tables. But its smoothness also gives it special virtues as a lining for dresser drawers.

There's practically no risk of snagging nylons, sheer lingerie, expensive sweaters, and the lining is so easy to clean no additional lining paper is needed.

One manufacturer who asked a consumer panel for comments on it found their enthusiasm so hearty that drawers of chests, dressers and tables are plastic-lined.

For the large collection of antique reproductions the choice of liner color is a soft Williamsburg blue. Melamine also lines the drawers of another collection of dignified classic eighteenth-century styles.

Coming down to present-day emphasis on multipurpose chests, I was surprised to find white melamine plastic laminate used on the backs of 33-inch and 66-inch sizes of a line of modern bedroom chests being offered.

Why? Well, this backing means chests can be used as low dividers in a bedroom. The choice of white emphasizes the clean modern lines and, naturally, it takes only a damp cloth to wipe off the smudges and fingerprints.

Vinyl upholstered headboards have sharpened up their eye appeal. They may be set flush in exposed wood frames or laminated with other materials or webbed.

A gold-dusted white vinyl headboard looks dainty and fragile but carries all the built-in ruggedness associated with the material.

Strictly accessory but welcome are the new, pretty, inexpensive polyethylene wastebaskets. They're easy to clean and light in weight.

In a children's room where almost anything can be dropped in a basket the fact that they can be swabbed out in a minute is, to me, a definite advantage. Nor will they dent or chip the paint from the woodwork if they're rolled around during a good-natured, rough-house engagement.

The pastel tints are pretty enough to satisfy a budding beauty, but you'll also find them in manly shades of red and yellow.

White plastic back of this chest emphasizes the clean lines of contemporary bedroom groupings and permits the chest to double as a room divider. Damp cloth cleaning removes smudges.

Gourmets in Controversy On After Dinner Smoking

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS —(NEA)— The question whether smoking during a meal is an insult to one's host as well as a display of complete absence of gastronomic "savoir faire" is again firing up a violent controversy with French gourmets.

This time it's because in a recent issue of a publication called "The Cuisine and Wines of France" the issue was raised by no less a person than 83-year-old Curnonsky, a gourmet with no first name who is uncontested prince of gastronomes.

"I proclaim," he wrote, "that tobacco is the finishing touch, the apotheosis of a good meal. There is nothing more satisfying than to indulge in a good smoke, elbow on the table, in the dining room where one has just eaten a superb meal."

According to Paris-Press, Curnonsky has been an inveterate smoker for the last 65 years. He smokes everything—cigars, cigarettes, even a pipe. But he does make one reservation — smoking should only be allowed with the coffee and naturally after the champagne.

But Countess Marie de Toulouse-Lautrec, blue ribbon cook and consultant to the woman's weekly "ELLE," exclaimed, "If everybody knows that a gourmet never dreams of lighting up a cigar or cigarette before the cheese course."

After some moments of reflection she added: "To smoke at the dinner table anyway is bad manners. Personally I find these 'bitrot' habits most displeasing."

Another eminent gastronome and a follower of Curnonsky, Edouard de Pomiane, went further. "At the dinner table it is usually the women who start smoking. What is more they generally use too much perfume, which is just as disagreeable as cigarette smoke so far as the enjoyment of a dish is concerned," he muttered.

Maurice Carrere, who presides over the destinies of the world-famous restaurant Maxim's, is definitely anti-smoking. He would like to see the revival of the "smoking-room" of old.

As for Robert Courtine, who is a Commander of the Cordons Bleus of Dijon, home of gastronomy, as well as a disciple of Curnonsky, when asked for his opinion on the controversial matter, he made a gesture of despair and said:

"Not long ago two Americans came to ask me whether it would not be possible to designate the brand of cigarette to be smoked with certain dishes, as is done for wines. Imagine!"

He stormed off in a cloud of smoke—from flaming brandy, not cigarettes.

Two American Girls Will Have Different Types of Weddings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP)—The beautiful blonde movie star will marry the prince, son of a thousand years of princes, in the Romanesque Cathedral of Monaco.

Little girls will throw flowers, there will be dancing in the streets, and fireworks. The day of the wedding will be a national holiday. Delegations of dignitaries will arrive. There will be affairs with men in dress uniforms and full medals, their ladies in rich ball gowns, ablaze with gems.

That's the fairy-tale romance, a real-life re-enactment of every little girl's dream of happiness.

The pretty blonde girl from Independence, Mo., will marry the newspaperman from Zebulon, N. C., son of a druggist, in the small red brick Trinity Church of Independence, where her mother and father were married and where she sang in the choir. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents.

This the American teen-ager's real-life marriage. But he does the story of a typical wedding, full of simplicity and warmth, even though the bride is a former president's daughter.

Both these weddings will take place next month and a nation, sentimental and incurably romantic, will linger and dream a bit over both of them.

On April 19, Grace Patricia Kelly, 26, daughter of a self-made millionaire Philadelphia contractor, ex-model, ex-New York actress and she insists, ex-movie star, will marry His Serene Highness Prince Rainier III of Monaco, 32, who possesses also 23 other titles ranging from duke to seigneur.

A few days later Mary Margaret Truman, 32, daughter of the 33rd President of the United States, concert singer, television and radio performer, will marry Clifton Daniel, 43, New York newspaperman and former foreign correspondent.

The four principals—and the trappings of the two romances—couldn't offer a more vivid contrast.

Starting at the beginning, compare these two courses of true love:

Grace Kelly, a prime box office property, was presented to His Serene Highness last May when, with a photographer, she was making publicity shots against the back door of the 14th century palace of the Grimaldis. The next time she saw him was in December when he dropped in to call on the Philadelphia Kellys. Less than two weeks later they announced their engagement.

Margaret Truman met suave, graying Cliff Daniels in early November when they were dinner guests of mutual friends, the George Backers, in New York, regularly for a couple of months. Daniel proposed late in January, was accepted, received the blessing of his prospective in-laws.

TARPOON SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Ray Coleman's cow was discovered eating the canvas top of Mrs. Mickey Tondakos' convertible. An insurance company called it a precedent but agreed to pay. The unorthodox meal didn't harm the cow.

McCoy Graduates
From NCO Academy

Army Sfc. Roland C. McCoy, 23, son of Lee G. McCoy, 429 East St. Louis, Sedalia, recently was graduated from the 10th Infantry Division's Non-Commissioned Officer Academy in Germany.

A member of Battery A of the division's 85th Field Artillery Battalion, McCoy received instruction in leadership of units, map reading and other military subjects.

Sgt. McCoy entered the Army in February, 1953, and completed basic training at Ft. Riley, Kan. He arrived overseas in September, 1955.

Law Of The Road
NORTH AUGUSTA, S. C. (AP) — A 16-year-old high school boy learned about law in Recorder's Court — and saved $12.

Arrested for speeding, he posted $12 bond and returned home.

Usually in such cases the accused stays away and forfeit bond. But this youth showed up for trial and explained to Recorder O. Douglas Smith that he returned at the urging of his high school driving class teacher.

Smith found him guilty but because of the lad's youth and honesty he suspended sentence and ordered the bond returned. And then had to explain to the boy what a suspended sentence meant.

He went happily home with his $12. But perhaps he figured he earned it because he was required to make a full report of the whole affair to his driving class.

RUNNING AGAIN — Fuller Warren, Florida's governor from 1949-1953, has announced he is once again seeking his state's highest office. Warren, who once said he would never again seek public office, is pledging himself to maintain segregation in Florida. His first administration was plagued with scandals, and his opponents this year are expected to bring them up again.

A Performance Sensation... A Fashion First!

There's an all-new way to measure automobile performance—and that's to measure it against Pontiac!

For Pontiac performance outstrips in a breeze any other on the road. And it didn't just happen! Pontiac engineers started from scratch with a brand-new Strato-Streak V-8 engine.

Then they added another triumph, the all-new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic* especially engineered to work as a super-efficient team with Strato-Streak power!

And what a team it is! There's the blazing "go" of 227 h.p. in the most modern, high-compression, high-torque engine you can buy!

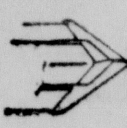

There's the incredible smoothness of Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic's liquid coupling and the instant, positive action of its gears.

No wonder they're calling Pontiac America's No. 1 spine-tingler! You will, too, when you see how it tames traffic and shrinks the miles.

Just as forward looking as the engineers, Pontiac designers set an equally new trend in styling . . . obviously branded with the stamp of the future.

Surprisingly, all this one-of-a-kind performance and style is priced well within the reach of any new-car buyer. We invite you to come in soon for the facts.

*An extra-cost option.

You can actually buy a big, glamorous Pontiac 860 for less than you would pay for 43 models of the low-priced three!

Romantic Italian Accent Keynotes New Furnishings

Example of the growing importance of the Italian influence in home furnishings is this formal—but affordable—setting. Color scheme of black, gray and white is highlighted by gold candlesticks and a vinyl tile floor of brilliant turquoise.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

One expression of the general trend toward more elegance in home furnishings speaks out with a richly romantic Italian accent to beguile homemakers.

Especially for those who cannot warm to cozy provincial or tweedy modern, the formality of gilded accessories, more ornate furniture, marbled tables and even the carnival motifs that smack of Venetian gaiety are as provocative as a cluster of resort travel folders on a cheerless day.

The clear blues, soft pinks, bronzes and golden tones accenting black, white and gray open up fresh color schemes.

Not all of this rich romanticism is pegged in the custom-order price bracket. It can be planned at affordable prices. I recently saw a gem of a setting which was photographed so you could enjoy it, too. Most of the key materials are either available or soon will be close to home.

The area is small, undistinguished by noteworthy view or interesting architectural features. A wallpaper mural provides the view and establishes the Italian theme.

It's a scene of a carnival in Venice skillfully done in perspective so that the area appears larger than it is. Since murals have become more popular and less expensive, many local wallpaper and paint stores carry sample books covering a wide range of subjects.

In keeping with the formal feeling of the room, the color scheme centered around gray, white and black lit with gold and a bright cerulean blue. Black, wrought-iron table frame and chairs accent the harlequin theme with brass-studded curves reminiscent of the trimmings on a jester's costume.

Tax Obligation
TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Roy Parrish takes his tax obligations seriously—so seriously that he's getting a whole year's living at taxpayers' expense.

The 27-year-old dishwasher was sentenced to the term for wounding a hotel clerk with a butcher knife in a holdup attempt. Parrish said he needed the money to pay his federal income tax.

VOTE "YES"

For SCHOOL LEVY

The Levy This Year Is A 15c Decrease!

...Here's Why
You Should Vote "Yes"

Vote ☒ "Yes"—to guarantee adequate funds for full 9-month school term in 1956-1957.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—to continue high AAA school rating and full recognition by state and national educational organizations.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—to provide the facilities necessary to serve our large and growing enrollment.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—to provide our teachers with a living salary for which this levy must provide funds.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—to enable our schools to meet the higher operating expenses caused by the rise in over-all prices during the past ten years or more.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—because, since the 1955-56 one-year levy is no longer in force, no money is now provided for operating schools beyond the $1.00 Constitutional provision.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—because unless the levy receives a majority vote, school income will be reduced so drastically that only a curtailed 7 month school term can be offered our young people in 1956-57. We must not let this happen.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—to insure the high standard school system essential to improved business and industrial conditions, high employment, better wages and increased property values.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—this levy is a 15c DECREASE from what you are now paying. This decrease was made possible by increased evaluation and the Foundation Program voted last year.

Vote ☒ "Yes"—because you know in your heart that schools are indispensable. ... that Sedalia's schools, although operating under a low tax dollar even with the present tax money, are equal of any—and that a competent, conscientious administration of school affairs has made all this possible at a cost that is considerably below the average cost in other communities.

Army Maps Shift 3rd Armored Division To Europe to Bolster NATO's Readiness

SELF-PROPELLED HOWITZER of the 3rd Armored Division, typical of the heavy equipment the U.S. will shift to Europe with the unit, is moved into position at Nevada Proving Grounds during last year's atomic blast test. Entire division has been trained in atom tactics.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
FT. KNOX, Ky. —(NEA)— A dramatic, unprecedented shift of a vital U.S. Army unit to Europe will soon be made to give North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces new atomic defense capability. It's the "gyroscoping" of the 3rd Armored Division to Frankfurt, Germany. "Operation Gyroscope" is the Army's new concept of moving a whole division — equipment, soldiers, families and pets—overseas together to improve morale, save money and insure quick combat-readiness upon arrival. Movement of the 3rd is unique because it's the first Army attempt to gyroscope the unbelievably heavy, complex equipment of an armored division.

Close to 1,000 armored vehicles such as tanks, personnel carriers, self-propelled guns are included in the 3rd's equipment. It has 14,500 men.

It's difficult to conceive the enormity of the job of moving this mass of equipment and people from here to an East Coast port, loading it aboard ships, unloading it in Europe and then moving it to its new home in Frankfurt.

At the same time the 4th Infantry Division, which the 3rd will relieve, will gyroscope back to the U.S.

Substituting an armored division for infantry troops is aimed at helping to correct a weakness which has long worried NATO commanders. That is the ability of NATO troops to suffer an enemy atomic strike, and counter-attack with sufficient strength to keep Red troops from swarming over Europe in one week.

The 3rd is now trained down to the last unit in the latest technique and concepts of atomic battlefield tactics. Last spring at the Nevada atomic tests tanks with live crews were exposed to close atomic blasts and maneuvered through atomic dust clouds.

All of the valuable data gathered from this test has been incorporated into the 3rd's equipment, training and tactical doctrine.

It's probably the most atomic-ready outfit in the Army. It will

Israel Hails Convention Of Men and Women Over 65

JERUSALEM (AP)—"You Are Younger Than You Think" therapy is being applied in Israel.

How well it works was demonstrated at the "Congress of the face a key invasion point of Western Europe.

By May, when the 3rd moves, it will already have part of its "grid" communications equipment providing communications among all units.

Last spring's atomic tests revealed that there is only a brief interruption to communications equipment at the moment of blast. And even a high concentration of radio-active contamination in an area produces only negligible interference to tank communications.

Many officers and men of the 3rd took part in the Nevada test. At least one man in every vehicle carries a fountain pen type radiation measuring device.

Manned tanks were 3,000 yards from the live explosion in Nevada. Evaluation studies revealed that they can be much closer and still continue to fight.

The 2nd Armored Division is already in Europe. Efforts to make it as atomic-ready as the 3rd are under way. Three other infantry divisions, the Fifth, Ninth and Tenth, also are in Europe.

Golden Age" in Givath Hashloshah. Israel's leaders believe it was the first convention of its kind ever held anywhere.

The delegates were 50 Jewish elderly men and women who are now living with 5,000 others—hailing from 23 different countries—in 16 old age villages or homes in Israel. They came together to exchange views on how to extend their various cultural activities.

The congress was held under the auspices of Malben, an Israel foundation of the American-Jewish Joint Distribution Committee.

The Malben old age scheme is still expanding. There is a long waiting list. In principle, applicants are eligible at 65, but chances are, better for anyone already in his 70's. The average age of the 2,000 men and 3,000 women in these homesteads is 73.

An old age exhibition displayed work done by the elderly people. Silver-embroidered traditional tunics of shiny blue silk with wide Oriental trousers to match—the national dress of Yemenite—Jewish women on specially festive occasions may have been the highlight. They were made by eight women from Yemen, all of them in their 80s.

Some of the oldsters are able to continue their former trade, at least for a few hours a day, and they can even learn a new one if they want to.

Intellectual work finds its place too. Julius Thoroock, 74, formerly an engineer and factory owner in Czechoslovakia, exhibited a technical manuscript with reference tables and formulae for calculations. A 73-year-old painter showed some of his pictures.

In their villages, the oldsters attend all sorts of lectures, listen to radio, records or live concerts and watch amateur theatricals.

There are libraries in many languages and they also publish their own little magazines and newspapers, likewise in various tongues.

The many languages are a handicap but in spite of their advanced age many try to overcome it by studying Hebrew. They don't usually learn as quickly as the youngsters do, but they learn.

Cadet Satterwhite Makes Dean's List

Cadet James J. Satterwhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Satterwhite, 1016 Wilkerson, recently was named to the dean's list at the U.S. Military Academy.

The list includes cadets who are academically in the upper 20 per cent of their class.

Cadet Satterwhite is in his first year at the academy. He received a congressional appointment to the academy from Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Satterwhite was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School in 1955.

Tilford Swearingen

Rotarians To Hear Talk On Colleges

Tilford T. Swearingen, president of William Woods College, Fulton, will be the speaker at Rotary Club Monday noon at Bothwell Hotel and will talk on "The Role of the Private College in Our American Society."

Born near Glasgow in 1902, Dr. Swearingen attended school in Glasgow. He received his AB in 1923 and his MA in 1924 from Phillips University, Enid, Okla., and his DD honorary degree in 1937.

He served as pastor of Lathrop Christian Church, Lathrop, Mo., from 1925-29 and as a staff member of the United Christian Missionary Society, department of religious education, Indianapolis, Ind., with the following assignments: national director of Young People's Work, 1929-32; national director of Leadership Training and Curriculum Development, 1932-36; executive secretary of the Department of Religious Education 1936-41. From 1941-45 he was pastor of the First Christian Church, Wilson, N.C., and 1945-48 was director of adult work and family education on the staff of the International Council of Religious Education, Chicago. From 1948-51 he was pastor of the Oak Park Christian Church, Kansas City, and from 1951 has been president of William Woods College, Fulton.

Dr. Swearingen is the author of three books, "Planning for Young People in the Local Church," a leadership training text published in 1933 now continuing its seventh printing; "Must a Man Live," a book for young people and group leaders of youth, published in 1941 and "The Community and Christian Education," written for the International Council of Religious Education and published in 1950. He is a contributor to World Call, Christian Evangelist, International Journal of Religious Education and to the education journals of all the major denominations.

As a staff member of the United Christian Missionary Society he has traveled to all except three states in the United States and Canada. In 1941, as representative of national department of education to Christian Education Congress in Mexico City, Mexico, he visited three mission stations in Mexico. On a trip to Palestine in 1928 he visited Spain, Portugal, Italy, Sicily, Egypt, Syria, Turkey and Greece.

Dr. Swearingen will be introduced by Dr. Lawrence Geiger, Program chairman is E. L. McClung.

Man Who Got Life Term for Rape Goes Free With Apology

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Miller, 30, who spent nearly four years of a life sentence in Joliet Penitentiary after being convicted of rape, was freed yesterday.

His release was ordered by Superior Judge John A. Sbarbaro after witnesses testified the alleged victim was mentally ill prior to the alleged attack and that there was no physical evidence of rape.

Judge Sbarbaro, who described Miller's conviction and imprisonment a "grave injustice to him as well as to the whole community," granted him a new trial and then approved a prosecution motion that the charge be dropped. The Illinois Supreme Court had ordered his case reopened.

"Thank you very much, judge," Miller said. "I'm very happy about this. I have no ill feeling toward any one."

Miller, a Chicago Negro, was convicted by Judge Sbarbaro May 2, 1952, of raping Mrs. Barbara Latimore, 30, on Oct. 26, 1951. She pointed out Miller as her attacker four days after the alleged rape.

Guidance Director At Wentworth Dies

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP)—Capt. Albert R. Park, 47, director of vocational guidance and professor of mathematics at the Wentworth Military Academy here, died Friday night.

Capt. Park, a member of the Wentworth staff since 1947 was stricken by a heart attack and succumbed a short time later.

He formerly taught at Bauxite, Ark., and Havana, N.D.

Park served as a Lieutenant air navigator in the Navy during World War II.

Survivors include his wife Ethyl, a daughter Dee Anne and a son, Medford, former university basketball star now a professional cage star with St. Louis.

'Blind' Wall Reflects Sun Rays Throughout the Day

SLATED WALLS of new science building in Washington act like vertical venetian blinds to automatically deflect the sun.

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—How would you like to have vertical venetian blinds outside your windows, automatically opening and closing to follow the sun?

Well, leave it to a bunch of scientists to put such a gimmick in their home. For the new headquarters building now under construction here for the American Association for the Advancement of Science boasts this unique feature.

Trouble is, it has sidewalk superintendents biting their nails trying to figure how the thing works.

Long aluminum slats hang in a neat row outside the windows of the second and third floors. Moving mysteriously, they directly reflect the rays of the sun throughout the day.

Actually, it's simple. These louvers, as they are called, are controlled by an electric motor timed according to the sun's progress. The clock mechanism is adjusted about six times a year to keep the windows shaded.

The device serves two purposes:

Workers at their desks are never bothered by bands of sunlight, but at the same time there is always plenty of natural light. The louvers cut the cost of air conditioning by reflecting the heat of the sun away from the building.

Three sides of the structure employ the aluminum louvers. They are not necessary on the shaded north side.

In addition to their practical function, the reflectors give the building the effect of having columns when they swing out at an angle to catch the sunlight.

"They are expensive but pay for themselves over the short distance," says architect Waldron Faulkner. "For the cost of air conditioning will be considerably reduced."

He does not believe, however, that these moving slats would be practical in a private home. They are best applied to large office buildings where a lot of window space needs protection.

The louver technique has been successfully used on several buildings on the West coast. This is the first time it has been tried in this area.

Nashua's Trainer Answers Fan Mail With Other Duties

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Barry Reisler, a 9-year-old Miami Beach pupil wrote a letter addressed: "Nashua, Hialeah Race Course, Florida." It was delivered promptly to Stall 45, Barn A.

Nashua, the world's most expensive and popular race horse, isn't much for fan mail, but his pals and handlers are. Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, his 81-year old trainer, answered Barry's letter which contained a request to meet Nashua.

Barry got up before dawn, put on his best cowboy suit and went with his dad to Hialeah. He watched Nashua work out, helped Groom Alfred Robertson lead him off the track, and even gave him a drink of water from a big bucket.

"It's wonderful they're so interested in Nashua," says Mr. Fitz. "We get dozens of letters every day from kids all over the country. We answer 'em all and send the kids a picture of Nashua."

Most of the other letters are from fans asking for a picture or a chance to visit the famous racer.

Replying to Mary Cameron of Minot, N.D., Mr. Fitz wrote:

"Thank you very much for sending me such a lovely letter. I appreciate your kind words greatly. You must be a wonderful little girl to be able to write so well and I am glad that Nashua has such a very good friend. I will ask him to send you one of his pictures as a keepsake. Would you like that? With all good wishes from a happy old man."

And Mary answered:

"Thank you very much for Nashua. I have framed it and it is hanging on the wall in my room." Melody Suppes thanked Mr. Fitz for Nashua's picture and an invitation to visit the colt. She said "When I come just look around for a girl with stars in her eyes and walking on a cloud—that's me."

From Columbia, S.C., Nashua fan Marsha Sue Long wrote that she has been taking riding lessons and "Do you think you could pass the word on that if there is any horse that nobody wants and about the size for a 12-year-old girl and won't cost very much money. I've got $10.00."

Mr. Fitz obliged her with a photo of Nashua.

Machine Age?

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A barefoot young woman dressed in a robe of white sacking and with long blonde hair streaming over her shoulders created something of a sensation when she appeared in a line of auto license tag buyers.

She gave her name as Edna Dockter and smilingly purchased a $10 house trailer tag.

She was identified later as one of a group of members of a Pentecostal sect traveling from church to church conducting services.

Autos are used to go to work by 77 per cent of Americans who live 5 to 10 miles from their jobs.

Sixty per cent of U.S. men 65 to 69 years old are still in the labor force.

NFO President Says Farm Bill Passage Was Defeat for Ike

DENVER (AP)—The farm bill passed by the U.S. Senate this week was termed "a major defeat for the Eisenhower administration" Friday by James G. Patton of Denver, president of the National Farmers Union.

But Patton added "the National Farmers Union is far from satisfied with all the features of the Senate bill."

"We will fight to improve it so that the farm families of this nation will be assured of true parity," he declared.

Patton was elected to his ninth term as NFU president.

Three St. Louis Priests Will Perform Mission in Bolivia

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Most Rev. Joseph E. Ritter, Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis, has announced that three St. Louis priests will go to Bolivia for missionary work.

They are the Rev. Andrew A. Kennedy, administrator of St. Hedwig parish; the Rev. David A. Ratemann, assistant pastor of Most Blessed Sacrament parish, and the Rev. Andrew B. Schierhoff, assistant pastor of Immaculate Conception parish.

City Hospital Gets Nod on Television Sets

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Some patients at the two city hospitals might have television sets in their rooms.

The Board of Aldermen Friday authorized the city to enter into a contract for installation of coin-operated TV sets for use of patients at City and Homer G. Phillips hospitals.

Sets would be located only in those rooms agreed on by hospital authorities. Ten per cent of the gross receipts would go to the city.

Effective Place to Fight Termites Is in the Ground

Main difference in appearance between ants and termites is in the waist.

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

Most folks think of injurious insects as pests of cultivated plants of the garden. Unfortunately some of these insects follow us into our homes, where they annoy us by feeding on clothing, food and sometimes the house itself.

While the average homemaker becomes disturbed upon the discovery of moths in woolen clothing or weevils in the cereal, she really gets excited upon observing a few large black ants scurrying along the baseboard or apparently appearing from somewhere in the basement.

While these insects probably are black ants, they could be termites. If termites are in your home they reveal a tragic fact, for somewhere in the timbers of flooring a colony of them is feeding on the cellulose in the wood.

Termites closely resemble ants, but they are not true ants. The best way to tell termites from ants is to look at the "waist." Ants are deeply constricted while termites have a broad joining between thorax and abdomen.

Their native home originally was in the forest, where they lived on decaying timber. Since decaying stumps and logs are infrequently available, termites have become more destructive to woodwork in buildings, fence posts, or any timber in contact with the soil. The only known food of termites is cellulose, which they get mostly from dead but sometimes living vegetation.

The young termites eat the cellulose in the wood as they grow. They make channels through timbers quite a ways above ground, but they always keep an unbroken connection with the earth.

Nests are always in wood underground. This may be a dirt-covered block of wood left from building

Leading daily reports on study showing spine is the key to Health

The Chicago American, one of America's largest and most respected daily newspapers recently published a long article with vivid accounts of Chiropractic and what it is doing to restore millions to Health.

THE RIGHT OF THE SICK TO GET WELL BY ANY METHOD THEY CHOOSE STILL STANDS UNCHALLENGED.

U.S. Senator William Langer says: "Veterans of the armed forces are entitled to the finest possible care that a grateful nation can provide. If they desire Chiropractic and benefit from it, they should be entitled to it at government expense."

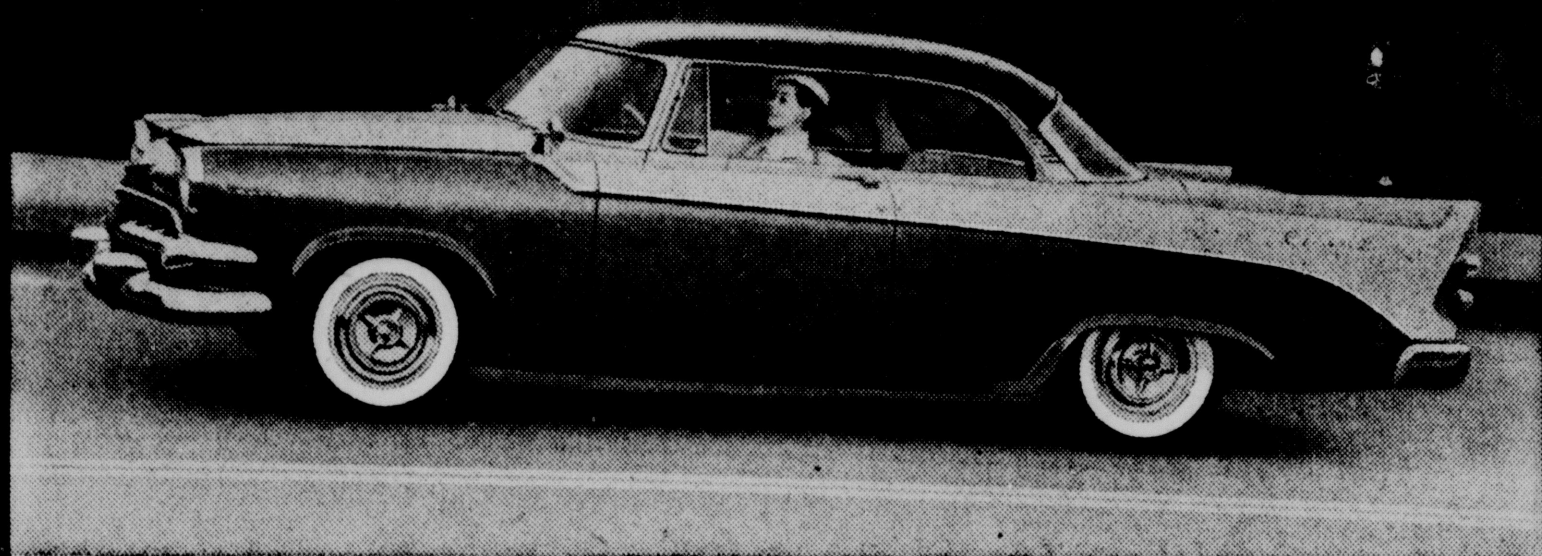

CHIROPRACTIC IS FASTEST, BEST MEANS OF CARING FOR HEALTH. Says noted industrialist. Head of multi-million dollar Sordani Enterprises employs Chiropractors to keep vast army of employees fit and on the job.

Check your accident and health insurance policy. Does it include Chiropractic health service? If it does not, demand it, it costs no more. You never know when you will need it.

FIGURE IT THIS WAY! For as little as 95 cents a week more than you'd pay for a small hardtop in the "lowest price field"—you can step up to the biggest, best looking, most luxurious hardtop in the "medium price field"... the Dodge Coronet V-8 Lancer!

Your King Size Buy-by far! '56 DODGE Coronet

Here is the value that will change your idea about "price class." The King Size Dodge Coronet actually brings you so much more for so little more! And why settle for a "stripped down" model of one of the medium priced cars when a full-size, full-styled, full-powered Dodge Coronet can be yours for less! There's a full line of Dodge Coronets to choose from: 2-door and 4-door sedans, 2-door and 4-door Lancer hardtops, and a dashing convertible.

Yet, the exciting news is this! For all its size, comfort, performance and style, the King Size Dodge Coronet is priced right down with the lowest. In fact, you can own a Dodge Coronet V-8 Lancer hardtop for only about 95 cents a week more than the same body style in the small car field.

Why settle for a small car when a new '56 Dodge Coronet brings you so much more for so little more! And why settle for a "stripped down" model of one of the medium priced cars when a full-size, full-styled, full-powered Dodge Coronet can be yours for less! There's a full line of Dodge Coronets to choose from: 2-door and 4-door sedans, 2-door and 4-door Lancer hardtops, and a dashing convertible.

Come in and see the Dodge Coronet today.

Size it up with others in the medium price field
Car "B"	Dodge is 6.9 inches longer
Car "M"	Dodge is 5.6 inches longer
Car "O"	Dodge is 7.7 inches longer
Car "P"	Dodge is 6.4 inches longer

More legroom front and rear! More hiproom front and rear! Wider doors! Greater steering wheel clearance! More rear deck space! New '56 Dodge is bigger inside and out! Looks bigger! Rides bigger! Is bigger!

Price it against small cars in the "low price field"
Car "C"	Dodge is 14.5 inches longer
Car "F"	Dodge is 13.5 inches longer
Yet Dodge costs only $4.11 a month more (less than 95 cents a week!)*

Jewish People Will Observe The Passover

Jewish people everywhere will once more rehearse mankind's first uprising against human bondage as they celebrate the week-long festival of Passover, which begins at sunset Monday, March 26.

As told in the Scriptures, the origin of the Passover (Hebrew: Pesach) story centers about the demand made by Moses of Pharaoh that the Israelite slaves be set free. Never before in history had resistance against human servitude been suggested, and the Egyptian monarch spurned the words of Moses.

The Jewish holiday of Passover marks the successful outcome of the efforts of Moses. At worship services on the first and last days of the holiday, a special ritual glorifies the idea of liberty. The theme is stressed in the hymns, the prayers and the sermons. Gifts to the poor are also part of the observance of this festival.

The chronicle of the Exodus from Egypt is also unfolded at the Seder (pronounced say-der) the festival meal which takes place on the first night of the holiday amongst Reform Jews and for the first two nights among traditionalist Jews. At the Seder, symbolical foods recall certain aspects of the Biblical story. Parsley symbolizes the arrival of Spring. Matzos, or unleavened bread, are reminders of the poor fare which slaves ate. A bitter herb is eaten to suggest the bad taste of slavery.

The Jewish people of Sedalia will observe Passover on Monday night not with a ceremony in the Temple but in the homes. Certain ones will have a dinner to which some of their Jewish friends will be invited and the symbolic foods will be served, with always the unleavened bread. Often the poor of the Jewish people will be invited to them, but because there are none in Sedalia this is not done. The Sedalians will carry out the reading of the story and all other traditions of the day at their dinners.

Bangtail Hobby

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Melvin L. Horowitz's defense that his hobby is horses won him an acquittal of charges of registering bets. After police testified they found a slip of paper on Horowitz apparently containing bets in code, Horowitz told District Court Judge Donald E. Mayberry:

"I handicap as a hobby, and often furnish information to my friends."

Judge Mayberry dismissed the complaint.

Traveling Cat

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Stow-away, the airport cat, is developing a case of wanderlust. She makes a point of meeting each incoming plane to get leftover food from the stewardesses.

Now she's taken to boarding the planes instead of just meeting them. She's made one trip to Jacksonville and one to Tampa. She's always put on the next flight back to Tallahassee when she's discovered.

School Budgets Sales

ALPINE, Calif. (AP) — Proceeds from the sale of magazine subscriptions by elementary school pupils will go to help pay a school debt. Frank S. Brown, district superintendent, said the district is expected to net $400 to apply to payment of a $1,800 debt incurred in 1953.

The district board ordered work without taking proper legal action, Brown said, and tax money may not be used to pay the debt. He said the magazine subscription drive will be conducted annually until the debt is paid.

Although Hitler had to wear glasses to read ordinary print, he refused to wear them in public.

ALL ICED UP—Three million dollars in diamonds, all in this picture! Model Becky Naylor proudly wears one million dollars' worth and looks at two uncut, unnamed diamonds worth about another two million dollars. These, and about three million dollars more in industrial diamonds, were shown recently at the 1956 American Society of Tool Engineers Exposition, Chicago, Ill.

More hat is the whole hat story for spring. But it needn't be top-heavy. Here are six versions of the new-hat look in scaled-down sizes flattering to any woman. Lace cloche (upper left) by Sally Victor is fragile, feminine and only somewhat deeper than the clothes you've worn in the past. Beatrice Martin's fez in plaid silk (upper center) has narrow brim and a little bow at the back. Toque in smooth navy straw (upper right) has wide banding of draped white organdy with big buckle. This is by Miss Alice. Gustavo gives larger hat look to sleek little cap (lower left) by use of floating brim. This is in white faille straw. Deep-brimmed cloche in scaled-down size (lower center) is in brilliant orange ballbunt straw banded in white organdy. It's a Miss Alice design. Small version of the mushroom hat (lower right) is in white straw finished with flat, tailored bow at eye level.

Red Cross Notes— Gray Ladies Assist at Free Polio Clinic

On Sunday, March 18, Mrs. R. L. Hogan, chairman of Canteen, and Mrs. H. J. Tevebaugh assisted with the coffee hour at Whiteman Air Force Base. Mrs. Hazel Kellerman provided transportation.

Walter McMellen began another Standard and Advanced course in First Aid for employees at National Engineering Co., whose plan is to have a first aid instructor in every department.

The following Gray Ladies assisted with the polio clinic held Thursday at the Armory: Mrs. J. E. Norlin, chairman, Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, Mrs. Lawrence Brown, Mrs. Herb Studer and Mrs. Harley Vaughan.

Miss Dorothy Staley, field representative from area office, was in the chapter Wednesday and met with members of the disaster committee to make plans for a group meeting to be held in April with representatives from other chapters.

A complete investigation by the local committee, a physicians examination and photos of the child, Dr. A. J. Campbell donates his services for the required examination and Lehmer's Studio furnishes the photos.

After arrival at the hospital in St. Louis further examination is given to determine if the child can be helped by orthopedic surgery. If the case can be helped the child's name is placed on a waiting list for admittance. At the present time there are approximately 116 on the list.

The St. Louis Hospital has 120 beds. There are 17 Shriner Hospitals in operation and one under construction in the United States. Cost of operation runs over five million a year.

Women Need To Stay Away From Fad Diet

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Young women may get away with fad diets that consist of eating a dozen eggs a day, or grapefruit and hamburger for a week, but these diets are definitely more dangerous for mature women than for others.

It's just plain silly for a grown woman to undertake a serious diet without an examination and recommendation from her doctor.

One woman undertook to cut out sweets to lose a few pounds easily, she felt, and soon was quite sick. She, like most persons, needed her sugar for energy. But her balance, it turned out, was extra-dependent on little things like sugar in the coffee.

It is quite dangerous for a mature woman to do even a little self-doctoring in her diet. As a matter of fact, many grown women find out from their doctors

Designers Take Unusual Motifs From Scientists

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

It's getting so you can't tell a scientist from a fashion designer these days, and vice versa.

In this atomic age, fashion is so mixed up with the higher echelons of chemistry that a dressmaker or textile manufacturer practically has to have a Ph.D. It's chemistry that makes the amazing synthetic fibers that go into the new miracle fabrics that have so many labor-saving talents. And it's chemistry that puts those new finishes on cottons and other materials that make them resistant to soil, wrinkling, fading, water and wear.

Pointing up this fact, one of the country's leading chemical companies recently gave a fashion show, featuring dresses made of permanently glazed cotton embroidered in a vari-colored molecule motif suggested by the grouping of chemical benzene rings, as depicted in color in an accompanying film.

The fabric itself has all the newest gimmicks of the scientific age, being resistant to creases, spots, soil, shrinkage, mildew and perspiration because of an everglaze process used by various textile manufacturers around the country. The schiffli embroidered motif gives it a three-dimensional look, so that the bright molecule design is highly realistic.

The fabric is used in a series of summer fashions designed by Lorraine Budny.

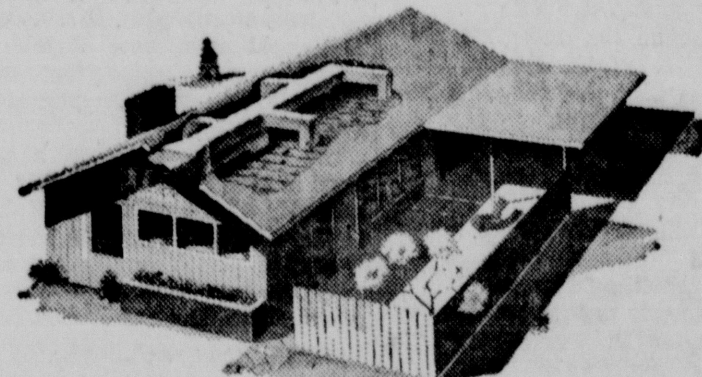

Saccharin first was prepared in 1879 by Remsen and Fahlberg, chemists at Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore, Maryland.

that their diets are seriously lacking, even though they may satisfy hunger. He finds this out by tests and examinations.

He may recommend many dietary changes, some of which may surprise the patient. Certainly, if one is troubled by weight loss, weight gain, fatigue, jumpiness, indigestion, constant hunger or loss of appetite, diet may have something to do with it. But only a competent physician who does careful records and examinations can recommend dieting for a woman in her middle and later years.

McIntyre, Dusek To Wrestle For Beautiful Trophy

TUESDAY'S WRESTLING CARD
In Sedalia Armory—8:15

FEATURE MATCH

"Red" McIntyre, 228, Ottumwa, Mo., vs. Joe Dusek, 230, Omaha. Best two out of three falls to a finish; no time limit.

SEMI-WINDUP

Bob Orton, 235, Kansas City, Kan., vs. Steve McGill, 230, Lincoln, Neb. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

SPECIAL EVENT

Gentleman Jim Dobie, 230, Detroit, vs. Frank Altman, 237, Kansas City. One fall, or a 20-minute time limit.
Matches sponsored by Pettis American Legion Post 16.

Who will be crowned as the undisputed Missouri state heavyweight wrestling champion?

The answer to that question will be decided in the Amory ring Tuesday night when "Red" McIntyre, pride of Cooper County, collides in a return match with Joe Dusek, the villainous leader of the famous Dusek brothers' "wrecking crew."

Mac won the previous meeting with Dusek but the Omaha wrestler yelped "foul" and demanded a rematch to settle the title issue. "Red" accepted the challenge, apparently anxious to erase the shadow of doubt hovering over his earlier victory over the Dusek leader.

Nestled at ringside, in the custody of the commission inspector, will be the American Legion Trophy, which will be presented to the winner of the McIntyre-Dusek showdown. The three-foot trophy will be emblematic of the state heavyweight title.

To make sure the title showdown will reach a decisive conclusion Tuesday, Matchmaker Gust Karas has signed the big event as a no-time-limit battle. "The McIntyre-Dusek dispute has clouded the Missouri state title issue too long and we're pleased that it is now possible to bring the two principals back for a conclusive showdown," the matchmaker commented.

McIntyre is still unconquered in Missouri matchings and the likeable red-haired wrestler has become a popular favorite among the Sedalia sports fans. His well-balanced offensive style has bowled over every opponent who has tried to halt his march to the state title throne. The only barrier now remaining is Dusek. And "Red" has voiced confidence in his ability to knock Dusek out of the title picture, once and for all.

Ready to make his Sedalia debut is Steve McGill, son of Pat McGill, a Midwestern meat great 20 years ago. Steve's initial test in the Armory will be against Bob Orton, the towering 6-4 Kansaser. They will come to grips in Tuesday's semi-windup.

Orton is trying to regain the top contendership position and in all probability the winner of the Orton-McGill match will be next in line to get a crack at the state diadem.

Gentleman Jim Dobie, who is running second to McIntyre for the top popularity slot locally, will be up against an equally running foe when he tackles Kansas City's Frank Altman in the special event which opens the Tuesday night card at 8:15.

The Armory doors and box office will open Tuesday evening at 7:15. Tickets are now on advance sale at the Pacific Cafe and Midway Shoe Repair shop. Students with high school activities' tickets will be admitted for 50 cents. Reserved seats are priced at $1.25 and general admission at one dollar. Children under 12 can gain admittance for 50 cents.

East-West All-Star Game In KC Monday

KANSAS CITY, March 24.—The fifth annual Ararat Shrine East-West all star basketball game in Municipal Auditorium Monday night will give fans a view of half of the college all star team that will play in the U. S. Olympic finals here April 2-4.

The East team, coached by Lyle Alley of Furman, will have five college all stars in its lineup. They are Bill Uhl, Dayton; Vic Molodet, North Carolina State; Paul Judson, Illinois; Joe Holup, George Washington; and Bob Burrow, Kentucky.

Coach Floyd Stahl's West team will number only two members of the college Olympic entry, but the talent is exceptionally fine with NCAA champion San Francisco's Bill Russell and K. C. Jones as its representatives.

Rejects Proposal To Drop Little League Series

CHICAGO, March 24.—The first national congress of Little League Baseball today rejected a proposal that the Little League world series be abolished.

The world series has been played annually at Williamsport, Pa., since 1947, with winners of eight regional tournaments participating. A committee report had suggested that the world series be discontinued and that all tournament play be resolved at a regional level.

Opponents of the world series contended participation in it requires too much travel, time and expense. Those favoring the series declared that to discontinue it would weaken the organization.

The group voted that only 11 and 12-year-old boys would be eligible for tournament play. Previously, 10-year-olds also were eligible.

The congress voted that little league games may be played at night under lights.

The congress approved a proposal that a maximum of six 12-year-olds and a minimum of four 10-year-olds be allowed on 15-player squads.

Sharks Attack

BURIN, Nfld. (P) — Two shore fishermen twice had to beat off a shark with their oars while fishing in a dory from a small schooner here. Sharks have been reported plentiful in Placentia Bay in recent weeks.

HOPES FOR ITS POSSESSION—Tuesday night, at the National Guard Armory, Bill "Red" McIntyre, Ottumwa, shown above holding the Championship trophy, hopes that he will gain its possession when he meets Joe Dusek in the final match between these two, for the heavyweight title. The trophy arrived in Sedalia the past week and McIntyre "dropped by" the Democrat-Capital office to look it over. "It'll be tough, but I believe I can beat Dusek for this," McIntyre remarked. Annual Honor To Two Tiger Stars—C. Van Dyne, Kennon Voted Co-Captains of Tiger Cagers

By Bob Mason

Smith-Cotton Tigers basketballers of the 1955-56 varsity have voted Charles "Van" Van Dyne and Walter "Walt" Kennon co-captains of the squad. The honor being imposed upon two of the outstanding members of the squad annually by teammates.

Both players served as captain of the team in various games during the season schedule of play. "Van" and "Walt" are seniors and will be lost from the squad next season.

An interesting sidelight of the squad this past season is that five of the first squad played basketball together on the Boy Scout Troop 65 team. These boys are Kennon, Van Dyne, Tommy Noland, Leslie Griffin, and Don Barbour. Something else interesting regarding the team is four of the boys played together in grade school basketball, Noland, Griffin, Kennon and Barbour at Horace Mann, while Van Dyne was at Broadway.

Thus the understanding of the excellent team work exhibited by the Tigers in 1955-56 when they had such a successful season—winning the Central Missouri Conference, the State Class "L" Regional, Clinton Tournament, and in a general good seasonal record. "Van" was the tallest of the crew this year, standing 6 ft. 3 3/4 inches, weighing 190 pounds, played center. During the regular season schedule and tournament he tallied 722 points, the highest scoring high school Class "L" player in the state. During the Regional and the one game in the State Tournament he scored 85 points for a 21-point plus average, which points are not included in the regular seasonal point scoring, but bring the over-all 1955-56 seasonal total up to 807 points, a very impressive scoring record.

During the season he succeeded in setting up new record figures for Tiger cagers. He broke the individual scoring record of 41 points formerly held by Bill Holst for a single game, by scoring 45 points and that was against Columbia. He broke the seasonal scoring record formerly held by Ray Homan of 574 points, with the 722, and the three-year varsity scoring record by an individual player which was also held by Homan of 1229, for 1951-54 seasons, while "Van's" was 1359.

Furthermore, Van Dyne has lettered for three straight years, he was selected on the All-Conference team, the All Mid-Central All-Stars, and is a nominee for the All-State basketball team of Class "L" division.

He is an all-around athlete, playing football in which he lettered and has started back in track competition, in which he has received letters, as well as basketball.

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THE announcement of Charles "Van" Van Dyne Jr., and Norris Kelley, Smith-Cotton high school stars having accepted football scholarships at Missouri University, brought to the minds of many old time alumnus of the University the name Van Dyne, which has become a legend at the school. But to the younger generation interest in athletics who know these two lads, the University has gained some power for the football team if they continue as in their high school days.

The acceptance of Van Dyne and Kelley of the scholarships makes three Smith-Cotton high school Tigers to be chosen by the University of Missouri for athletic scholarships from the 1956 All-Conference football Champions. The third is Don Barbour, who accepted several weeks ago, who is following his brother Carl Barbour who attended Missouri, but later went into the U. S. Navy and now resides in California.

Coach Don Faurot made no mistake in picking all three for his Missouri prospects. These three boys were outstanding in football the past season, and well earned the chance to attend their home-state university.

Van Dyne traveling to Missouri certainly makes the family name a legend at the University. Since back before World War I, the name Van Dyne has not been let to die out as far as athletics are concerned. Written in the history of the M. U. Tigers is the name Van Dyne.

"Van," who is Charles Van Dyne Jr., follows dad to the University. But father Charles wasn't the first there, it was his older brother Clifford who attended the University in 1914, 1915 and part of 1916. Clifford, now deceased, lettered at the University all three years although in 1916 when his father died he returned home to take charge of the American Disinfecting Co., now known as Adco. The University lettered him anyway in 1916.

Then Charles attended the U. He lettered in football in 1922, 1923, and 1924, and, like Faurot, was a member of the late Coach Gwynn Henry's team of 1924 which won the old Missouri Valley conference championship. Charley also was picked on one All-American team, and was selected for several other second and third All-American teams for his play of '24. He was also on the All-Western team which included the famed "Red" Grange of Illinois.

So "Van" has something to carry on as far as reputation of the family name is concerned. Let it not be said that "Van" has been riding in on any of his predecessor's records in the Van Dyne family. He has made his own in high school which have been through his way of cooperating and receiving cooperation with his fellow teammates. The figures don't lie.

His two companions likewise have been outstanding in athletics and Missouri gets three good Sedalia boys.

Discuss Little League Plans At Meeting

Little League plans for the 1956 season were furthered last Thursday night at a meeting of the Board of directors of the League. Also attending were representatives of sponsoring organizations, managers and several coaches.

According to a report it appears as if the League will have between 600 and 700 boys registered and desiring to participate in the summer activities. It was necessary to have more registration cards printed for boys who failed to get one when first distributed when 500 cards, all that were printed were released. An additional 250 cards were printed and have been distributed.

Boys who received these cards are requested to get them back to the principal of their school immediately so they can be cataloged prior to the physical examination which is scheduled for Saturday March 31 at the Armory. The League officials feel there will be a very small percentage of boys who will not be able to participate this year because of some physical condition.

Tryouts for the leagues will get underway as soon as the reports on the physicals are compiled. Following the tryouts are to be held at which time the various players will be bought and assigned to the teams.

Arrangements are underway to take care of the ever expanding Mite League, first beginners of boys who are anxious to play but not quite qualified to go up to the Minors or Majors. A full program as good as last season is scheduled before for the Mite and Minor Leagues.

With the increasing of Mite League teams it will be necessary to recruit more manpower to handle the teams. Men who are interested in working with the boys are requested to contact the Little League officials.

Plans were also completed to reface the diamond and outfield of the Little League stadium. The bleachers will also receive a coat of paint so the layout will be in tip-top condition for the season opening in June.

The National A.A.U. handball four-wall singles-doubles championships will be held in New York on May 13-20.

On Golf Smith-Cotton Baseball Team Into Practice

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

Our two Sedalia golf courses, Countryview and the Country Club, have begun to take on the immaculate appearance they exhibited last year and the new season will be progressing into full swing soon.

The fairways at both courses are in fine shape, while the grass greens at the Country Club have responded well to pre-season care putting them in excellent condition.

George Thomasetti, Countryview course manager, has planned a number of tournaments at the public links for this summer and anticipates increased interest and participation in the golfing program there this season.

Sedalia is fortunate in having as fine a municipal course as Countryview to accommodate the average golfer and this has been made possible the past two years only through Thomasetti's determination to provide the local golfers with such a course.

After a not-too-successful season last year he has decided to make an all-out effort this summer to accelerate golfing interest in this area with hopes the public links operates as a success for the season. This, of course, depends upon the proper support by the local golf enthusiasts.

Among the ranks of younger golfers who have been giving the old veteran professionals a hard time recently appears the name of Billy Maxwell.

Maxwell, a 26-year-old who hails from Texas, set, an impressive pace on the circuit last summer and during the winter campaign. He placed well up the list in the money standings last year and has made his bid on the winter tour even more profitable.

Of late Maxwell placed third in the St. Petersburg Open in Florida last week and Saturday was leading in the Miami Open tourney.

Of course, one can't overlook the championship play of the old pro, Dr. Cary Middlecoff. The dentist-turned-golfer was second in money winnings on the pro loop in '55 and, after a good showing in the winter events, shows no signs of letting up in the play-for-pay scramble this year.

It's pros like Dr. Cary that make it rough for the rising new young aggregate.

Home Crowds Help
EAST LANSING, Mich. (P)—Michigan State University basketball coach Fordy Anderson says the guy cheering from the bleachers seat often means the difference between victory and defeat for the home team.

"A crowd helps you win," said Anderson. "If a team goes out on the floor and sees a full house, unintentionally or not—they play a better game. It's not the same as when you play before just a few relatives and loyal fans."

Dartmouth's director of athletics Red Rolfe and hockey coach Ed Jeremiah were teammates on the Dartmouth baseball squad in 1929 and 1930. Rolfe later became a star third baseman for the Yankees.

Only a collapse or sudden death could stop Devon Loch from becoming the first royal horse in 56 years to capture racing's toughest steeplechase.

He had taken the last of 30 stiff jumps boldly and surely, and all that remained was a flat run to the finish of the 4-mile, 856-yard course.

But Devon Loch came apart, sinking to his knees, a spent and floundering horse, even as the huge mass of 200,000 spectators began shouting "To the Queen!"

Thousands of bowler hats were raised and many were tossed into the air in tribute to the widow of King George VI. Then the horse gave way and the roars of applause turned into groans of disappointment.

S-C Tigers Retain Kemper Meet Title

Sedalians Open Track Season By Winning Event 4th Straight Time

(By Vic Van Dyne)

The Kemper Military Academy Indoor Meet, Saturday at Boonville, went to the Smith-Cotton High School Tigers who continue on their winning ways. The Tigers in spite of a short spring practice, piled up 32 1/5 points to grab off the first season honors the school has entered in track meets this season. The State Champions of 1955, Brookfield high school, was one of the teams in this meet and they played second fiddle to the Tigers, gathering up 22 1/2 points.

This is the fourth straight year the local track team has won the Kemper Indoor.

Nine schools participated in the meet other than Smith-Cotton coached by Norman James and Brookfield by Phillip Brusca are: Boonville, Fred Biesmer, coach; Hickman of Columbia, Jack Kersting, coach; Kemper M. A., Bob Johns, coach; Pacific, Don Doeris, coach; Pilot Grove, Raymond Ordpr, coach; and Wentworth Military Academy, Capt. Edgar Muench, coach.

The finals in scoring other than Sedalia and Brookfield were: Kemper, third, 18 1/5; California and Wentworth tied for fourth with 13 points; Columbia, fifth, 11 2/5; Boonville, sixth, five points; Pacific, seventh with 2 1/5 points; and Pilot Grove had 1 1/2 points.

Smith-Cotton's thincads took four firsts with Charles "Van" Van Dyne winning three of them, and Bob McPatrick's, who captured the 880-yard run with the time of 2:12. Van Dyne took first in the 2.12 Van Dyne took first in the broad jump with a jump of 20'5", high hurdles with a time of :05.4. He became part owner of the new hurdles record at Kemper when he tied the mark set by Gray of Maplewood in 1951 and Simpson of Columbia in 1952 with a time of :05.1.

McPatrick's time broke the record formerly held by Keeton of Raytown set in 1952 with a time of 2:12.5.

"Van" Van Dyne was high point man of the meet with a total of 17 points more than half of the total points made by the team. His three first and a third in the shot put added up the total.

Norris Kelley and Van Dyne both made All-State by throwing the shot farther than the state mark of 46 feet. Kelley threw the shot 48' 6 1/4" and Van Dyne 47' 9".

The next meet the Tigers will participate in will be on Saturday March 31 at Fayette. It will be a morning and afternoon meet.

The Results Are:
40-yd. high hurdles: C. Van Dyne, S-C, first, Curtis, Kemper, second, Maxwell, Kemper, third and Noland, S-C fourth, Time: :05.4.
40-yd. Low hurdles: C. Van Dyne, S-C, first, Curtis, Kemper, second, Shepherd, Pacific, third, Time: :05.2.
40-yd. dash: Phoenix, Brookfield, first, Mills, Columbia, second, Smith, Wentworth, third, and Finney, Wentworth, Time: :04.8.
440-yd. dash: Jackson California, first, Austin, Sedalia, second, Basle Boonville, third, Maylard, Kemper, fourth, Time: :07.0.
880-yard run: McPatrick S-C, first, Behmyer, Columbia, second, Callison, Boonville, third, Taylor, Brookfield, fourth, Time: 2:12.
1 Mile: Nichols, Brookfield, first, Dering, Kemper, second, Clawson, Brookfield, third, Strickland, California, fourth, Time: 4:59.0.
Broad Jump: Van Dyne, Sedalia, first, Phoenix, Brookfield, second, Hall, Columbia, third, Smith, Wentworth, fourth, Mark, 20'5".
Shot Put: Westfall, Brookfield, first, Kelley, S-C, second, Van Van Dyne, S-C, third, Cockran, Brookfield, fourth, Distance: 50'11".
Pole Vault: Neeley, Wentworth, first, Bob Walsh, S-C, second, Hahn, Brookfield, and Mercer, Pilot Grove tied for third, Mark-11'6".
High Jump: Curtis, Kemper and Neeley, Wentworth tied for first, Logan California, third, Watson, Columbia, Spraggins, Sedalia, Myre, Pacific, Seward, Columbia, and Culbertson, tied for fourth, Mark-5'10 1/4".

Billy Maxwell Stretches Lead In Miami Open

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Texan Billy Maxwell slacked his par-shooting pace slightly today but still stretched his lead to five strokes over the field in the third round of the $15,000 Miami Beach Open golf tournament.

Maxwell, former National Amateur champion from Odessa, added a 34-35-69 to his previous rounds of 64 and 65 for an 18-under-par total of 198.

Gardner Dickinson, Jr., of Panama City, Fla., who tied Maxwell with a 64 the first day but slipped to a 72 in the second round, rallied with a 31-36-67 for 203 and second place. Dickinson, a Ben Hogan protege, was tied for fifth at the start of the round.

Pete Cooper of Detroit and Jimmy Demaret of Kiamasha Lake, N. Y., two veterans of the golfing wars, tied for third at 204. Cooper, who was second at the start of the round, couldn't get his putts down and had to settle for a 72. Demaret, who was in fourth place, came in with a 69.

Mike Souchak of Crossinger's N. Y., and Bob Inman of Detroit carded 68s and Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, a 69 to tie at 205.

Ferrari Sports Car Wins Grand Prix Endurance

SEBRING, Fla., March 24—The skill and daring of two of the world's greatest sports car drivers—Argentina's Juan Fancio and Italy's Eugenio Castellotti driving a Ferrari—paid off tonight with a record-shattering victory in the 12-hour International Grand Prix of Endurance.

The Italian Ferrari driven by these magnificent pilots, Fangio the world champion and Castellotti the best in Italy, ran for 10 hours in second place behind a British Jaguar piloted by Mike Hawthorn and Desmond Titterton of England.

Then, with Castellotti at the wheel, the Ferrari made its big bid. Castellotti shot past Hawthorn, lapped him and passed him again. In the 11th hour, the Jaguar broke down under the strain. After 40 minutes of frantic effort by the crew had failed to get the car back into action, Hawthorn quit. But it made no difference then because the Ferrari was much too far ahead.

New St. Louis Air Terminal Will Open Despite Janitorial Tiff

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mayor Raymond S. Tucker said today the new air terminal at the Municipal Airport will open on schedule Monday despite a dispute over janitorial services.

He said details of how custodial service is to be provided will be worked out over the weekend, pending settlement of the controversy.

Comptroller Milton Carpenter, in refusing to sign a contract with a private firm for janitor services, said he was concerned over a possible threat to the city's civil service system.

The Board of Aldermen yesterday approved of the position taken by Carpenter.

St. Mary's finally pulled it out, 45-43, in the second overtime.

Truman Denounces Ike On Running Of Govt.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., March 24 (AP)—Harry S. Truman declared tonight that President Eisenhower doesn't know how to run the government.

"I'm very fond of the President," the former chief executive told an audience of Kansas Democrats. "I made him chief of staff of the armed forces. But he doesn't know any more about how to run the government of the United States than any one of you."

Speaking at the convention of Kansas Young Democrats, Truman indicated he was ready to do a lot of stumping in the coming campaign.

Boy, 15, Is Returned To Training School On Assault Conviction

MT. VERNON, Mo., March 24 (AP)—A 15-year-old Aurora youth, on parole from the Missouri State training school for boys, today was convicted on a charge of felonious assault and sentenced back to the Boonville institution by Circuit Judge Robert Stemmon.

Prosecuting Attorney Hal Moore said the youth, Daniel Vaughn, was arrested by Aurora police and highway patrolmen a few hours after the assault of Mrs. Alice McPhail, about 40, wife of the Rev. Fred McPhail, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Auburn.

Officers said Mrs. McPhail was injured shortly after 8 p.m. last night while she was carrying a tray of sandwiches from the new church to the old church building which is now used as a recreation building. She told officers the youth approached her and asked directions to another church then struck her with a wrench before she could answer.

Mrs. McPhail is hospitalized at the Aurora hospital with head lacerations and a concussion.

The youth gave no reason for the attack, officers said.

Reds Reject US Claim Soviet Balloons Flew Over US Territory

LONDON, Sunday, March 24 (AP)—Russia tonight rejected a U. S. claim that Soviet balloons have flown over American territory.

A government note broadcast by Moscow radio challenged the United States to produce any Soviet balloons to prove its case.

The United States told Russia March 1 that Soviet balloons had flown over Alaska just as U. S. balloons had flown over Soviet territory.

Russia had protested that camera-carrying U. S. balloons had been "spying" on Soviet territory and endangering air traffic. The United States said they were weather balloons.

The Moscow radio said the note handed yesterday to the U. S. charge d'affaires in the Soviet capital, William Walmley. It was in reply to the one from the United States March 1.

Russia repeated its earlier charges that captured U. S. weather balloons contained cameras as well as radio transmitters.

Six Months Ago Yesterday Ike Suffered Heart Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six months ago Saturday President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Now he's running for re-election. In between there has been plenty of drama.

The word from Denver last Sept. 24 stunned the world. Few believed that day as Eisenhower lay under an oxygen tent that he ever would seek another term. The prayers that day were that he would live.

But five months and five days later, on Feb. 29, the President pronounced himself "a recovered heart patient" on the basis of reports from his doctors, and announced he was available for a second term.

By that time the announcement came as no surprise. All along the physicians had been reporting steady progress, and on Feb. 14 they said Eisenhower appeared fit for "another 5 to 10 years" in a job like the presidency.

That delighted Republican leaders. The delight changed to jubilation when he made his re-election bid.

But from some Democratic quarters there came immediately a contention that seems likely to resound throughout the campaign—that Eisenhower would be a part time president.

Eisenhower himself said he was giving up some of his ceremonial duties as a host and was delegating to associates some work he used to handle personally. But he also said "there is not the slightest doubt that I can perform, as well as I ever have, all of the important duties of the presidency."

When he first returned to his White House desk Jan. 9, the President limited his business day to about six hours. He got in a midday rest prescribed by his doctors, and still does.

But lately he has been working longer hours, sometimes into the evening.

Yesterday the White House announced the President will throw out the first ball at the season's opening baseball game here between Washington and New York on April 17.

James C. Hagerty, press secretary, also said yesterday the President hopes to go to Augusta, Ga., April 9 or 10 for a week's vacation.

About two-thirds of U. S. men over 65 years old have living wives but only one-third of the women of that age have living husbands.

Women Learn What Makes The Family Automobile Go

By WARREN WALWORTH
PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Until now men have been pretty solidly in the driver's seat when it came to mastering the mechanical mysteries of the family automobile. And a man didn't have to be an other Henry Ford to fool the little woman, either. As little as he might know, she knew even less.

But the girls are on the march now. George F. Hamilton, who runs two filling stations and a body repair shop, has set up a class for lady mechanics.

"The idea," says Hamilton, "is to teach them all the simple things any car owner should know. How to change a tire, put on chains, adjust the carburetor, detect a faulty fuel pump, put in a set of points, install a fan belt or radiator hose."

Twenty-two distaff drivers are in the first group enrolled through the local YWCA. The schedule calls for weekly one hour classes for six weeks. Student enthusiasm stretched the initial session closer to two hours, much to Hamilton's delight. "They asked a lot of good questions that kept things rolling," said Hamilton, who was assisted by his foreman, Frank Nadeau.

The idea goes back to last summer when a group of girls motored up to Mt. Katahdin and were stranded by a flat tire.

"Only two of us had even a faint idea of what to do," recalled Christine Petersen of Portland. "When we got back, we decided there should be some way for women to learn about automobiles."

They sought aid from the YWCA, which in turn approached Hamilton. The garageman rigged up a classroom on the second floor of the body shop, complete with a demonstration motor, collision-wrecked autos and instruction charts. Other props included a Juvenile Delinquent?

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A woman entered court with her 5-year-old son and a ticket for over-parking.

"I'm not guilty — he is," she said, pointing to her son.

Then she explained she parked her car and told the boy to put coins in the parking meter when the time began running out. When she returned, the violation marker showed, and there was a ticket on the car.

She said her little son laughed, "Mommie got a ticket!"

The case was dismissed.

new type headlight, carburetor, fuel pump, distributor, starter, dead and live batteries, generator, spark plugs, points, condenser and a coil. The first students range from a teen-ager perhaps eager to impress the hot rod set to a grandmotherly lady who signed up "for the fun of it."

A married student said she was "sick and tired" of her husband blaming her every time their car turned balky. "Pretty soon I'll be able to fight back," she said.

St. Louis Approves Money for Acquiring Expressway Property

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A 2-million-dollar appropriation for the city's share of acquiring the right of way for the proposed Mark Twain Expressway in North St. Louis has been approved by the Board of Aldermen.

The money, voted Friday, will come from the 110-million-dollar bond issue approved by voters last May. It is to cover one-half the cost of acquiring the right of way from Eighth and Mullanphy streets to the city limits at Lillian Avenue.

The Missouri Highway Commission will build the expressway.

Swank Meteorology

DENVER (AP) — This Colorado capital's fanciest weather-and-time tower has gone into operation atop the National Farmers' Union new 14-story building on Capitol Hill.

The tower contains a 2,000 watt beacon light with red or green plastic sleeves which slide over the light. If the light shines green, the weather will be fair. Red signals bad weather coming.

Four time clocks at the tower's base work from an electronically corrected time machine. Four temperature clocks flash the mercury readings.

There are banks of white neon tubes, each five feet long, running up the tower. If the temperature is rising, the upper portion of the tower is lighted. If the temperature is dropping, the lower banks light.

Plant Collection

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University's campus contains more than 2,350 different species of trees, vines and shrubs, one of the most extensive collections in the northern United States.

From 150 to 200 new plants are added to the 620-acre campus each year. In all there are more than 12,000 trees on the campus.

Britons Believe Russians Should Mix With the Crowd

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—Few Britons expect Nikita Khrushchev and Marshal Bulganin to become good democrats as the result of their eight-day visit to Britain in mid-April.

But the majority feel the Terrible Twins from the Kremlin should see as much of democratic freedom as possible during their short stay here.

A State banquet given by the Queen in honor of the Soviet leaders is unavoidable, but other stuffed shirt events should be cancelled, in the opinion of most Britons.

Let "Krush and Bulgy," as the London cockneys call them, mix with the crowd. Let them talk to workers and get their opinion of the Soviet regime. Let them take soundings of the British attitudes towards a future war.

The Soviet leaders, also, should be given an opportunity to learn something about British history and institutions, most people feel, remembering the "Hate Britain" lies which they spread on their recent tour of Asia.

In preparation for their visit, Krush and Bulgy, no doubt, have been boning up on Charles Dickens. They will arrive here expecting to see the gin lanes, debtors prisons, work houses and sweat shops of 19th Century England.

They should by all means be shown the remaining eye-sores of industrialism—the slums of Manchester, for example, but let them also see the new housing estates for working-class families sponsored by a Socialist government and carried out by the Tories.

This is how a majority of Britons feel about the coming visit.

Here are other suggestions which find popular support.

Speakers' Corner in Hyde Park is as good a place as any for Krush and Bulgy to learn about free speech. Here they will find soap-box orators advocating everything from a return to the gold standard to the violent overthrow of the present British government. And there are no NKVD plug-uglies in plain clothes taking notes. The handful of bobbies are there to protect the speakers, not to molest them.

Khrushchev, who recently told the Burmese that "England did not exist as a country before William the Conqueror in 1066," might be interested in visiting the Roman ruins of London, or "Londinium" as it was then called. He will find that nearly 2,000 years ago the Romans had quite a flourishing civilization, with temples, amphitheatres, baths and even central heating.

He will find other reminders of Britain's glorious past in Westminster Abbey, and may be surprised to learn that Beatrice and Sidney Webb, the pioneers of British Socialism, lie buried there alongside England's great poets and statesmen.

Khrushchev, the son of a Ukrainian miner, will want to visit one of Britain's nationalized coal mines (he already has an invitation from the 2,450 miners of the Hatfield colliery in Yorkshire). Here he will see what Britain's postwar governments, both Socialist and Tory, have done to improve the miner's lot: the model housing, accident and sickness benefits, labor-saving machinery, pithead baths, canteens, holiday and recreation centers.

He should also stop off at Runnymede, where the Magna Carta was signed in 1215. The Magna Carta or "Great Charter," guaranteed Britons their fundamental freedoms. The original document may be seen in the British Museum, where those grave-diggers of freedom, Karl Marx and V. I. Lenin, once spent most of their waking hours in study.

A visit to the Karl Marx grave in London's Highgate cemetery is, of course, a "must" on the Soviet leaders' itinerary. Here in a bronze bust five times bigger than life is the bulging brow of the man whose proud boast was that he had given the world a case of boils.

Khrushchev, in recent speeches in India and Burma, has blamed Britain and her allies for starting World War II. The Western powers "fed the Nazi blood-hound" for its attack on Russia, he has said.

So, as a final gesture, it might be appropriate to take Krush and Bulgy to see the British Merchant Marine Memorial. Here they will find an imposing monument dedicated to the 2,669 men who lost their lives on convoy duty to Murmansk while carrying vital supplies to Russia with which to beat off the Hitler invader.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Students of the language as she is spoken often carry on spirited exchanges in the columns of local newspapers here on "Baltimorese," a little-known but very distinct tongue.

One amateur authority maintained that "zinc" for "sink" and "picture," for picture were probably two examples of Baltimore pronunciations not duplicated elsewhere. But another authority disagreed and said that people in other parts of the country have been known to say it that way, too. The first amateur then fell back on an old standby — "Balamer" for "Baltimore." He quoted a story that a Baltimore officer was spared arrest on suspicion of being a German spy in American uniform in the World War II Battle of the Bulge. A Baltimore M.P. heard him say "Balamer" and knew that only a true citizen of Balamer would know enough not to pronounce it "Baltimore."

Pilate-His Policy Spelled Death

(This is the fifth of an Easter Week series about individuals in the human tide that carried Christ to His death.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Newsfeatures

The high-vaulted chamber was silent except for the swish of the governor's robe as he paced back and forth. He stopped beside a bowl of fruit and plopped a grape in his mouth.

Then, tight-lipped and annoyed, Pilate turned to the prisoner and gazed at him distastefully. "Art Thou a king?" The country was full of these vagabond soothsayers with fool's dreams and impractical notions.

This one, a rangy fellow with a calm, unprotesting manner, seemed harmless enough, but there was a subtle sting in his reply: "Sayest thou this thyself, or did others tell it thee of Me?"

Pilate swore silently. Rome, the astute mistress! Firmness but conciliation—that was the emperor's command. Would that great Tiberius himself had to deal with this one—not that the fellow's life mattered.

But ambition burned hard in Pilate, whose ancestors had risen from slavery. He knew that diplomatic mastery over these troublesome Judeans was the key to power. Personally, he had no use for justice—a plague on it!

But already, his ruthless methods had brought scowls from Rome. He had to be careful, schrewd. He twisted the gold ring on his finger and turned, with sorely tried patience, toward this man called Jesus.

"Thine own nation—the chief priests—delivered Thee unto me. What hast Thou done?"

The man had some visionary answer: "My kingdom is not of this world . . ." Plainly, He was just a paltry mystic—with nothing to do with the weightier matters of running the actual affairs of men.

Pilate smiled. "Art Thou a king then?"

The prisoner didn't see the humor of it. "To this end have I been born," he said evenly. "To this end have I come into the world that I should bear witness to the truth."

Pilate shrugged. "What is truth?" A chimera, an idle fancy! Pleased by his own sage realism, Pilate strode out of the praetorium, up the stairway and through the curtains out on the gallery.

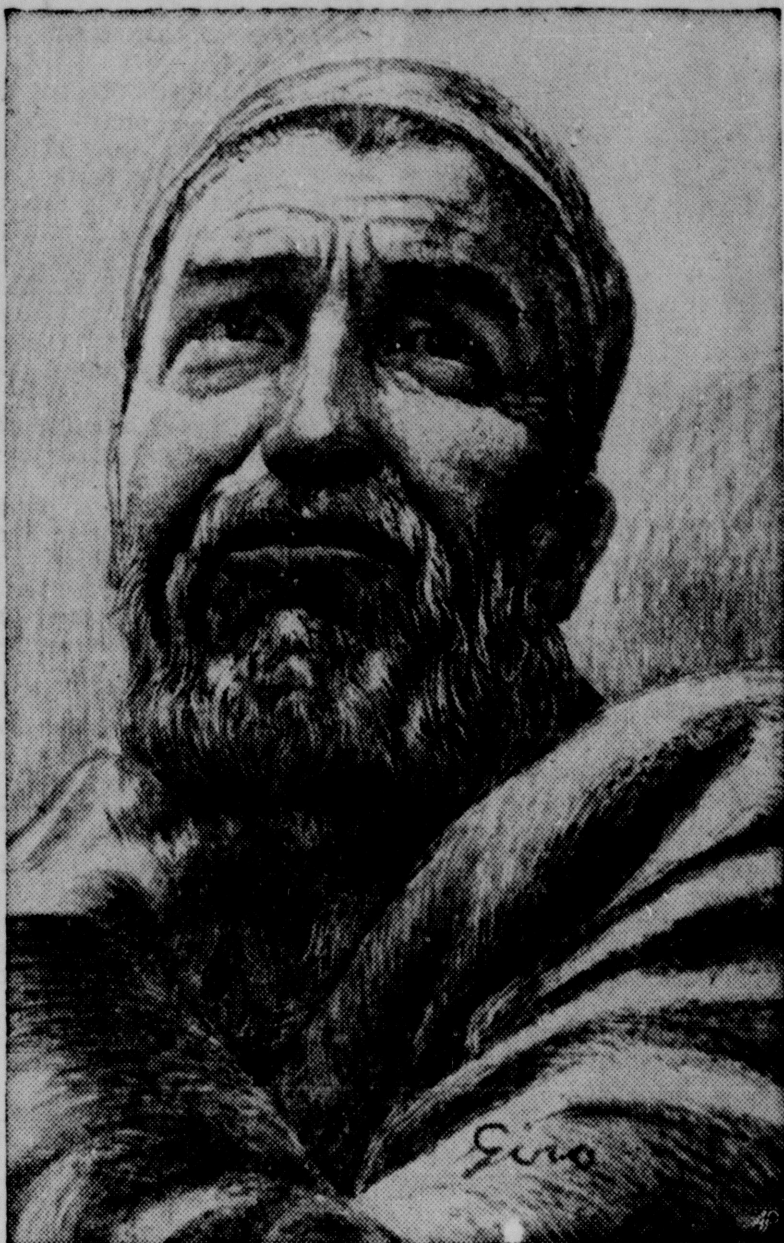

The crowd quieted. "I find," Pilate said, "no fault in the man."

A lull, then a regally garbed priest spoke up gravely. "He perverts the nation. He says He is king. He stirreth up all Judea." A murmur arose in the crowd. Someone shouted, "An insurrectionist!"

Pilate frowned, and went back inside. The rabble! Those priests, worried by their own waning authority, were behind it—wanting a scapegoat, a pawn to make an issue of Rome's curb on their punitive powers.

The crowd's temper disturbed him. Once before, a mass protest against his use of Temple funds to build an aqueduct ended only in slaughter by his troops.

Again, when he ignored the Pax Roman against offending native religions by affixing imperial medallions on military standards, it stirred a six-day melee. Instead of appreciating the gesture, Tiberius sent a reprimand.

Indecision tore at Pilate. Then he had a crafty idea. He'd turn the case over to Herod Antipas, a native puppet king of the prisoner's home province of Galilee. He also had come to Jerusalem for the tumultuous Passover period.

But Herod, though flattered, sent the prisoner back, dressed as a jest in royal purple.

Disgusted, Pilate returned to the outdoor tribunal seat. He gazed scornfully at the accusing dignitaries, whose very refusal to enter the inner "heathen" court—"it would defile them"—was an insult.

A new stratagem came to him. A Passover custom was to pardon one criminal, and certainly the people wouldn't want him to free the vile Barabbas, a rebel and killer. Pilate raised his hand.

"I've found no cause of death in this man, Jesus." He paused. "Whom shall I release unto you—Him or Barabbas?"

The answer startled him. "Barabbas!" As he fidgeted and the crowd milled noisily on the pavement, an attendant handed him a note . . . in his wife's handwriting. "Have nothing to do with that righteous man," it said, "for I have suffered many things in a dream because of Him."

Angrily, Pilate crumpled the note in his fist. What did Claudia know of rule? He should have left her at his regular palace in Caesarea, 100 miles north. He'd

People Take Too Much 'Medicine'

"I don't take any medicine," the man told his doctor. But . . . he was taking a pill to pep himself up in the morning, another to reduce his weight, an assorted group of vitamin and mineral pills and capsules, antihistamin for the sniffles, drops to soothe his nose, a drug to quiet the jitters, another to fight heartburn, a laxative and a sleeping potion.

None of these things were "medicine" to him—just little things he thought he needed to get through the day. No doctor had advised him to take all that stuff. As a matter of fact, he went to see the doctor because he was suffering unexplained stomach cramps.

Too many people take too much medicine or too many kinds of medicine. Some get themselves into serious trouble by continuing to take a medicine prescribed by the doctor long after it has done its work and the need is past. Others go to three or four physicians, getting from each a prescription for a different symptom. Many go on taking a drug after it starts to produce symptoms which, to a doctor, would indicate a dangerous sensitivity to the medicine.

The wisest procedure is to stick to the advice of the family doctor. When you see him for your regular checkup, he should know what medicines, laxatives, and diet supplements you have been taking. Perhaps he will tell you you don't need all those vitamin pills. The laxative habit can be dangerous. Perhaps the symptoms you are treating yourself indicate some serious trouble which he alone can diagnose.

Many of us are apt to prescribe for ourselves when it comes to cold remedies, vitamins and laxatives. It's a good idea to ask the doctor's opinion first. He's the man who knows whether a commercial preparation you can buy from the drugstore will do you any good, or whether it might do you real harm.

Miss Delores Chick, Dean Shafer Wed in Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Delores Marie Chick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Chick, Knob Noster, and Dean Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shafer, Knob Noster, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at seven o'clock the evening of March 16 at the home of the officiating minister the Rev. Harry Higgins, pastor of the Knob Noster Baptist Church.

The bride wore a gray spun rayon dress with blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Those present at the wedding were the mother of the bride, Mrs. Chick and the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Shafer, and the bride's sister, Mrs. Ray Knight, Knob Noster.

The bride and bridegroom are seniors in the Knob Noster High School and are living with his parents for the present.

The bride's parents gave a dinner in honor of the couple Sunday. Those present were the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Schubert and daughter, A-3c and Mrs. Ray E. Knight, Knob Noster and Mr. and Mrs. Galen Chick, Montserrat. A four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table. The bride's sister, Mrs. Leroy Schubert baked the cake.

Bridal Shower Given Honoring Shirley Nichols

A bridal shower was given at the home of Mrs. Vernon Arnett Tuesday evening, March 18, by Gwen Arnett, Rosalee Alexander and Judy Miller in honor of Shirley Durrill Nichols who was recently married.

Decorations in the home were pink and white with a large pink and white umbrella centering the table and large white wedding bells above with streamers down from the bells to the umbrella and table. The gifts were placed under the umbrella.

During the evening interesting games were played led by Rosalee Alexander and Judy Miller, in which all took part with prizes going to the winners.

After the bride opened her gifts, refreshments were served to Mrs. Russell Miller, Judy Miller, Rosalee Alexander, Sue Harbit, Mrs. Durrill, Mrs. Roy Alexander, Rosalee Ruth Elkins, Clara Elkins, Doris McNutt, Barbara Needy, Alene Burns, Jackie Kendrick, Mrs. Vernon Arnett, Sandra Arnett, Gwen Arnett and the honoree.

Wearing a new outfit for Easter? if so, be sure you have tried it on before the day you expect to wear it. Your hair may not be styled properly for your new hat—your make-up may be the wrong shade. If a garment has been altered there is of course, a chance that it isn't just quite right. I know all of you at the last minute have found any of the above mentioned happenings and no time to do anything about it. You feel ill at ease on what you are wearing and sometimes you never like the outfit just because originally you felt it was wrong. Shining clean hair, well-manicured nails and a clear complexion improves every outfit. If you wear hose with seams make sure they are straight before leaving home. Also if you are wearing a corsage be it real or make-believe it is wise to wear less jewelry and show off your well selected clothes. To have that well groomed look, you must also possess a sureness to help you acquire that polished finish that becomes a part of you.

The W. Fowlers Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Fowler celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday March 18, at their farm home one mile east of Hughesville, with open house from two to five in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were married March 14, 1906 by Dr. J. M. Chaney. Mrs. Fowler, the former Mattie Elgin, was born in Saline County, but spent most of her girlhood and all of her married life in Pettis County. Mr. Fowler is the son of the late William and Elsie Pryce Fowler, who lived in Hughesville many years, has spent all of his life in Pettis County. The Fowlers have two sons, Pryce and Julian. Pryce, his wife and three children live at 1321 State Fair Blvd., in Sedalia, and Julian, his wife and two children live in Hughesville.

Mrs. R. A. Joos

Mary Troesser, Richard A. Joos Exchange Vows

Miss Mary Lee Troesser, Union, Missouri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Math Troesser, Bonnots Mill, Missouri, became the bride of Richard Allan Joos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Joos, Owensville, at two o'clock the afternoon of March 17 at the Christian Church in Union with Rex Mitchell officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin brocade gown. A waist length veil of nylon tulle fell from a sequin headpiece. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Anna Mae Craig, sister of the bride, Jefferson City, wearing a pink brocaded satin gown and carrying a colonial bouquet of purple violets, served as matron of honor.

Robert N. Joos, St. Louis, served his brother as best man.

The mother of the bride wore a navy blue crepe dress. The mother of the bridegroom chose a navy blue taffeta dress.

For traveling to New Orleans, Louisiana, the bride chose a tangerine linen dress with black patent accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Linn High School, Linn, Missouri.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Owensville High School, Owensville, Missouri. He is now a trooper in the Missouri State Highway Patrol, stationed in Sedalia. The couple are now at home in an apartment at 300 1/2 West Third.

The Willow Grove WPFA met at its club house for the March meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lahmeyer as hosts. The morning was spent socially and a contributed dinner served at noon. The business meeting was opened with the devotional service conducted by Mrs. Frank McClain, followed by prayer.

Mrs. Lahmeyer, president, conducted the meeting. Roll call was answered with "An Instance When Prayer Did or Could Affect My Life or Duties of a Good Citizen." Minutes of the February meeting were approved as read. Mrs. Otto Howelmann reported on the county board meeting. The club will begin articles for achievement day soon.

A flower exchange will be held in April at the regular meeting which will be at the club house with Mrs. Frank McClain hostess. Visitors were Miss Augusta Tope, Frank McClain, Henry Lahmeyer, Ben Kramer and Rabern Kella.

Blackwater School District PTA Meets

The Blackwater School District R-2 PTA held its March meeting at the school auditorium with the president, Raymond Holder, presiding. The theme for the evening was "Be Understanding." Two films were shown. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. C. C. Alley. The annual election of officers was held. Elected were, for president, Mrs. David Fulk; vice-president, Mrs. Pearson Turley; secretary, Mrs. Dan Heffron; treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Price. The meeting adjourned into a social hour when refreshments were served.

Bridal Shower Given Honoring Miss Gladys Reid

A miscellaneous bridal shower and party in honor of Miss Gladys Reid of Smithton, whose engagement to Robert Martin of Green Ridge, was recently announced, was given by Mrs. Stella Ramseyer, Saturday evening March 17th. Assisting hostesses were, Mrs. Edna Sharper, Mrs. Joe Merk and Miss Bonnie Merk. Several games were played during the evening and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Glenn Merk, Miss Delaine Griffith and Miss Barbara Shermwell. Miss Griffith also received an "Early Bird" gift for being the first guest present. Refreshments were served after which the honoree was presented with a large array of gifts which were opened and displayed. Miss Reid announced that her wedding would be April 8th in the Smithton Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m.

Other than the hostesses and the honoree guests were, Mrs. Ralph Perryguy, Mrs. Gayle Fletcher, Mrs. William Ficken, Mrs. B. B. Ihrig, Mrs. Joe Monsees, Mrs. Rubie Young, Mrs. Harold Scott, Mrs. B. Doctors' Day Is Proclaimed For Friday

Doctors' Day has been proclaimed nationally for March 30, and will be observed on that day in Sedalia with window decorations and posters paying tribute through the theme: "Hats off to Doctors' Day and His Red Carnation."

The celebration, however, in this community will be held on Thursday evening, March 29, when a venison dinner honoring the doctors will be given at the Sedalia Country Club.

Mrs. J. W. Boger, president of the Pettis County Medical Society Auxiliary, and chairman of Doctors' Day, with her co-chairmen, Mrs. Donald C. Proctor and Miss Frances Trader have made arrangements for the dinner. Members of the committee on arrangements is composed of Mrs. Karl B. Gonser, Mrs. J. T. Hopkins, Mrs. A. L. Lowe, Mrs. D. P. Dyer, Mrs. D. R. Edwards, and Mrs. Stanley Fisher.

Proceeds from more than 500 tickets sold for a series of six shows will be presented Thursday evening to the doctors to be used to purchase any piece of new equipment for the hospital they might like.

Mrs. Dean Neill

Patricia Johnson Becomes Bride Of Dean Neill

Miss Patricia Viola Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Johnson, 1517 East Fourth, became the bride of Dean Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Neill, 1205 South Montgomery, at 10:30 the morning of March 17 at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Thomas W. Croxton performing the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Croxton played "I Love You Truly," "Indian Love Call," and the traditional wedding march on the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a brown suit with bouquet of white carnations and a white Bible.

Miss Mary Lou Dillon and Gene Schuerman, both of Sedalia, were the attendants.

The mother of the bride wore a charcoal grey and white dress with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose a dark blue dress with white accessories.

A reception was held in the church basement with thirty guests present. Mrs. Dean Stump, Warrensburg, and Mrs. Gordon Harbit, 1419 East Third, served at the bride's table. Miss Patricia Johnson was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left Saturday afternoon for Fayetteville, Ark. The bride wore a grey suit with white accessories for traveling.

They are now at home at 512 East Third. The bridegroom is employed at Bagby Poultry Farms.

Baptist Circle Meets With Mrs. Scroggum

The Florence Harris Circle of the Windsor Baptist Church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Jesse Scroggum with 14 members present. Mrs. R. L. Irvine served as co-hostess.

The Home Mission offering totaled $14.25.

Mrs. Waldo Wheeler presented the lesson, "Make Me a Channel of Blessing."

The circle members spent the remainder of the evening making tray cards to send to the hospital and rest homes for St. Patrick's Day. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

In addition to its 11,000 lakes, Minnesota has 30,000 miles of fishing streams.

In using wallpaper and matching fabrics in a bedroom; try using the patterned paper for the ceiling of the room with plain papered or painted walls in a harmonizing shade. Then use the matching fabric (same as ceiling pattern) for the bedskirt with a quilted spread in plain color, perhaps a shade darker than the walls. A slipper chair or small cardboard chest covered in the matching fabric would add interest.

One-Way Around the Hospital

The mounting traffic load on city streets as well as highways makes it imperative for municipalities to maintain constant vigilance over the problems of adjustments not only for the sake of safety but for public convenience.

Some communities have been laggard in adopting the utility of a citizens' traffic advisory board or commission which studies traffic problems and makes recommendations to a city's governing body for corrective measures when these are deemed necessary.

Sedalia is fortunate in having a citizens' advisory board. Like any such agency there are times when members are not in agreement but this does not defeat the functioning processes for the general good. Even the members of a city council or a school board are not always in agreement. If disagreement is too evident for too long a time the public has methods for relief by changing the personnel.

Sedalia's traffic commission is keeping abreast of changing times with the assistance of a traffic engineer. Their recommendations may not all be adopted but they should not be brushed aside.

The latest one certainly commands immediate attention — the one-way traffic around three sides of Bothwell

Memorial Hospital. Steadily increasing use of hospital facilities has brought with it increased traffic on streets which of themselves are too narrow to accommodate parking and movement of motor cars.

Unless the condition around the hospital is corrected there may come a time of fire emergency in the neighborhood which could be disastrous because fire fighting equipment would be impeded.

What really should be on the agenda for traffic improvement around the hospital is a project for widening of the streets, and acquiring nearby property for a parking lot for use of the public.

These things will come in time, but the cost of such improvements might be less if they were made supplemental to the proposed improvement and expansion of the hospital itself.

There are other public improvements which likewise need to be considered from the standpoint of long range planning and economy.

One-way traffic around Bothwell Hospital is a temporary expedient which will not cost much money now but this should not be the ultimate answer.

Also Sedalia could stand some more one-way traffic adjustments. The community is away behind others in this respect.

Drew Pearson Says—

Kefauver Was Opposed by Colleagues

WASHINGTON — There was considerably more than meets the eye behind the tremendous Kefauver sweep in Minnesota. . . . His Senate colleagues threw every possible roadblock into his path. Sen. Lyndon Johnson even conspired to delay the farm vote from Saturday to Monday, so Kefauver would miss the final vote on the farm bill by being in Minnesota to campaign on Monday. This was arranged at the secret prompting of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who knew the bad reaction in Minnesota if Kefauver missed the final vote on the farm bill. . . . The tall Tennesseean, however, fooled 'em. He flew all night from Minnesota arriving in Washington at 6:00 a. m. Monday, voted on the farm bill, then flew back to Minnesota Tuesday to be with his supporters as the victory returns came in. . . . Senators who saw Kefauver on the Senate floor Monday were flabbergasted. "How did you get back from Minnesota?" they said. . . . Sen. Hubert Humphrey, a good senator, sent a special letter to Minnesota Farm-Labor Democrats in an effort to defeat Kefauver. He warned that his own political future was at stake in the Kefauver-Stevenson vote, urged that Minnesotans vote for Stevenson. They did not. . . . Kefauver financed his Minnesota campaign on a shoestring. He got $8,750 from his Washington campaign headquarters, another $5,000 from a few close friends, and collected between $7-8,000 in dimes and dollars by passing the hat in Minnesota. . . . Kefauver could afford only one telecast. Stevenson spent an estimated $100,000, shelled out money for considerable TV time. . . . Eisenhower forces spent four times as much money on radio-TV as Stevenson, got only 50 per cent of the combined Democrat balloting. . . . Inside fact is that Kefauver advisors urged him to stay out. Col. William A. Roberts, his treasurer, did likewise. He told Estes he couldn't possibly make the race unless he had $25,000. "And we haven't got it," said Roberts. . . . "God will provide," replied Kefauver, and went ahead.

Political Soul-Searchers

A lot of soul-searching took place after the Kefauver sweep in Minnesota. It took place on several sides — some by the Republicans, a lot more by Stevenson leaders, perhaps most by conservative Democrats of the stop-Kefauver school. Here are some of the things they searched their souls about:

Soul-Searchers No. 1 — The Republicans. Their vote in Minnesota was less than half the total Democratic vote. This could be explained by the fact that there was no real GOP contest. On the other hand Eisenhower boosters used four times as much radio-TV time as Stevenson. So a haunting fear faces GOP leaders that the farm revolt goes deeper than they thought, that the Republicans who crossed over in hordes to vote for Kefauver may stay crossed over in November.

Soul-Searchers No. 2 — The Adlai-ites. They now face some tough primaries, the toughest being Florida and California. In both, Stevenson and Kefauver will be campaigning against each other, face-to-face. The situation in California is already shaping up like that in Minnesota where Adlai's boys got in early, lined up the chief leaders of the Democratic party, only to have this backfire.

In California, the staunchest Estes-ites of 1952 began jumping off his bandwagon for what they considered a sure winner — Adlai. Jimmy Roosevelt jumped. Congressman Chet Holifield, Clair Engle, Fay Porter, all jumped from Kefauver to Stevenson. Only a small corps of devoted loyalists with no money and little influence stuck with Estes. Like Minnesota, the California party bosses were all for Adlai.

From that inauspicious start, however, Kefauver stock in California has zoomed. Private polls taken by Stevenson in Southern California showed the two candidates running neck and neck — and this was four days before the Minnesota victory. In less populous northern California, Stevenson was ahead, but how he rates after Kefauver's Minnesota victory is anybody's guess.

Kefauver is in California this week end, and Stevenson leaders, despite their power, prestige and ample funds, aren't happy.

Soul-Searchers No. 3 — The stop-Estes Democrats. They are led by Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia. They used to include ex-President Truman, but Truman now says he's for the best vote-getter, and he appears to mean it. The stop-Estes Democrats are inspired partly by personal jealousy, partly by the fact that Kefauver leadership would take party control completely out of their hands. Some also remember that Kefauver was the only Southern Democrat who stood up and voted for "closure," the all-important means of killing filibusters against the Negro on Civil Rights.

What the stop-Estes soul-searchers have to worry about, however, is that the Democratic party has to fight a presidential campaign with no dough in Democratic coffers and with plenty of dough in Republican coffers. Kefauver has shown that he can do this. He is the only Democrat since Truman who by old-fashioned campaigning has offset the power of new-fangled like-TV campaigning.

Another thing: Any Democrat who wins in November must be able to woo Republicans voters. This political axiom was why FDR won in 1932. He wooed Republican voters. The converse was true in 1952 when Eisenhower pulled Democratic votes over to the Republican side. Kefauver apparently has this knack of wooing independent voters. In Minnesota he polled around 50,000 more votes than Eisenhower.

This is going to be tough for the stop-Estes boys to overlook.

Unknown Origin

Exact origin of the custom of sleeping on a piece of wedding cake is obscure. It has been traced back to the early Britons and is found not only in England but in almost all European countries.

The U. S. Steel industry produced about 116,000,000 net tons of ingots and steel for castings in 1955.

Thought for Today—

Events of great consequence often spring from trifling circumstances. — Livy.

Dr. Jordan Says—

Person With Broken Bones Should Be Moved Carefully

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

One or more members of almost every family at one time or another suffers from a broken bone or fracture.

The doctor is rarely the first person to see the patient after a bone has been broken, so it is others who, as a rule, have the first responsibility. The way the situation is handled at the beginning may have a good deal to do with the medical treatment and outlook for proper healing.

When an onlooker suspects that a bone has been broken, he should let the patient lie where he is if at all possible until the arrival of someone who knows how to move him.

Unwise movement may change a fracture from a simple affair in which the broken portions are in good position into one requiring complicated surgery and a much longer healing time.

If the patient has to be moved there are some general principles to be followed. If the suspected fracture is in the foot, the shoe should not be removed, as it may serve as a partial splint.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

In homage to their patron saint, St. Patrick, a large number of members of St. Patrick's parish and friends gathered Sunday evening for a dinner, Irish music and talks at St. Patrick's school. D. E. Kennedy was toastmaster and the Rev. S. G. McGucklin, Jefferson City, was the principal speaker.

1931
A Pettis County delegation of 48 farmers and Sedalia businessmen, headed by Charles O. Botz, president of the Chamber of Commerce, R. W. Brown, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau, and C. B. Chryst, Pettis County Farm Bureau, left for Jefferson City to appear at a hearing on tax matters before Chairman J. T. Waddell and Forrest Smith, of the Missouri Tax Commission.

1931
John P. Gass, former justice of the peace, who had been in Bothwell Hospital, sufficiently recovered from an illness to leave for Springfield to visit his son, John Gass.

1931
Madame Dorice Valenair, Paris, France, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith, gave a talk before the Rotary Club on "Vienna of Today." The Rev. Ralph A. Waggoner spoke on historical facts of that famous city.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Thirty-three Masons, the greater number from Sedalia, were initiated into the Centralia Council No. 34, Royal and Select Masters, in ceremonial rites at the Masonic Temple. Others were from Central Missouri cities and towns. A dinner was served by the Eastern Star ladies.

1916
A. M. Hampton traded a farm of 116 acres in Flat Creek township to T. H. Johnson for residence property in Sedalia.

1916
P. H. Meyer, proprietor of a grocery store at 11th and Ohio, sold his stock and business to move to Texas. Forrest Poindexter, formerly with the Star grocery, Mr. Meyer disposed of the business to move to Texas.

usually depends on the location and nature of the fractures. In determining what should be done, the X-ray is of extraordinary value. Indeed, bones are often set under this machine so that the doctor can tell when the broken fragments are in the best possible position.

Once the bone fragments are put together in the right position, they need to be held there, and they need time to grow together or knit. For this purpose the plaster of Paris cast is invaluable.

Fractures do not heal at the same rate of speed. Healing depends on such things as the kind of fracture, its location, the blood supply and the age of the patient, among others. Generally speaking, fractures heal more rapidly in the young than in older persons.

Ruth Millett Says—

Most Women Can Interpret Meaning Behind the Words

Why do men claim there's no understanding a woman when it's so easy for a woman to figure out what a man means by what he says?

When a man asks, "Does it have to be done right now?" in an injured tone of voice, he isn't really asking a question. He's putting off another job. In short, he is saying "no."

When a man asks in a doubtful tone of voice, "Is that what you're going to wear?" it isn't a question, either. It's his idea of how to say tactfully, "For heaven sakes, what are you wearing that dress for?"

When a man says, "This meeting tonight may last a little longer than usual" it means that "the boys" will probably stop off for a few beers after the meeting.

When a man looks worried or acts irritable yet tells his wife there is nothing the matter, it simply means he hasn't decided just how much to tell her about his troubles.

When a man says, "Ask your mother" to one of his children it means he thinks the answer should be "no" but doesn't want to be the one to say it.

When a man says, "Boy, what a day this has been" he is asking not to be bothered with any family problems or asked to do any odd jobs.

When a man starts complaining about how much it will cost to get the old car put in good running condition he isn't considering having it done. He's setting the stage for bringing home a new car.

When a man says "um . . . mm" and goes right on reading it means he hasn't heard a word his wife said.

But when a man says "Don't buy anything that isn't absolutely necessary for the next few months" you can bet your bottom dollar he means exactly what he says.

Oregon Senatorial Campaign Could Be Mighty Exciting

by JOSEPH A. DEAR
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The Oregon Senatorial campaign, which features candidates of starkly contrasting political philosophies, could be one of the most exciting in the nation.

During a flying visit to the Northwest, as a guest of the private power combine, I found that Senator Wayne Morse is a slight favorite. But it won't be a cinch. His switch about in 1952 embittered many Republicans.

To them he is a base turncoat. In this group are many of the GOP "liberals" to whom he was once a hero. Thus Republicans will have good reason to rally around Douglas McKay, who will resign as Interior Secretary to oppose Morse. McKay, incidentally, is popular in his own right. He has never lost an election in Oregon.

But there's no discounting Morse. He is a man of prodigious energy. He is a fluent and convincing speaker. And in McKay, he has the ideal opponent.

For McKay represents a concept—the concept that Western resources should be developed by private capital. Morse, on the other hand, is a leading exponent of the concept that government development of resources is essential. It is his thesis that private capital can't do the job. And in the Northwest, this is a touchy issue.

One facet of the issue involves water power. That's important business out there. Construction of dams not only means hydro-electric power, but also additional water for irrigation. And dam construction has an impact on salmon fishing, an industry which packs plenty of political muscle.

The Hell's Canyon argument illustrates the nature of the issue. At Hell's Canyon, the mountains loom 7,000 feet over the waters of the Snake River. Idaho Power and Light, one of my corporate hosts, is constructing two dams along this stretch. Another is authorized.

These structures will be imposing. But the public power advocates insist their proposal is better. They want one high dam—780 feet in Hell's Canyon.

Such a dam would generate plenty of power. It would back up plenty of water for irrigation. But private power companies say much of the potential of the big dam would be unusable. And on the sound engineering theory that good enough is best, they say their smaller dams would suffice.

Moreover, they note that Hell's Canyon project is controversial, so controversial that Congress might not appropriate funds for construction even if the project were authorized.

And the Northwest needs power now. Its demands are increasing yearly. Demand will nearly double within ten years. So why shouldn't private power get the go ahead now?

Idaho power, of course, is going ahead with its Snake River projects. But the Hell's Canyon high dam bill has been approved by a Congressional Committee. Passage of the bill would thwart the company.

One of the problems of the private power companies arises because its projects are intermingled with those of the federal government. Along the mighty Columbia, into which the Snake empties, are some of the largest dams in the world. Grand Coulee, for instance, which is the world's largest dam. And several municipalities, among them Seattle and Tacoma, have their own power plants.

But in spite of problems brought about by this intermixture, all the systems cooperate. The term for it is power pooling. This means that cooperating companies switch in power from areas where there is a temporary surplus to other areas where there is a shortage. It is estimated that the arrangement has meant an additional 700,000 kw of electric power for the Northwest.

The federal dams cooperate in the pooling arrangement. So do municipalities owning generating plants. And so do the private power companies: Idaho Power and Light, Montana Power, Portland General Electric, and Washington Water Power.

The private power combine says it has no objection to federal financing of projects. But it hopes to share in the benefits, and play a part in the building. That's the origin of the "partnership" concept plugged by President Eisenhower.

The partnership concept is nothing more than that at the moment. Private power hopes to see the concept put in operation at the site of the John Day dam. The government would build and own the dam. Private companies would contract and pay for 40 years' worth of power output at the start.

These are some of the issues on which Morse and McKay will lock during their campaign. The issues are meaningful to the voters. The candidates are far apart in viewpoint. Both are controversial. That's why the Oregon campaign should be a dilly.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

Someone admired the red shoes a girl had on at a party.

"Well," she commented, "I scraped them pretty bad one day, but," she added quickly, "I just put some lipstick on them and it fixed them up fine."—H. L.

IT WAS a wonderful feeling for the woman sitting on the bank fishing to know that in her billfold was the brand new fishing license as she saw the conservation officer coming along asking for fishing licenses.

"Yes, I have," she said proudly when he asked her if she had a license. "I've been buying fishing licenses for 25 years and this is the first time I have ever had an opportunity to show one."

She handed the license to him with satisfaction but the officer shook his head. "Lady," he said, "This is last year's license."

"Why, it couldn't be," she said with surprise and a little indignation. "I just bought it a couple of days ago. I cleaned out my billfold and threw the old one away."

"You didn't buy this one a couple of days ago?" he told her, "because it is last year's license" and he showed her the date.

He certainly took the wind out of her sails and with horror she realized what she had done. She had cleaned out her billfold all right and threw a fishing license away — but it wasn't the old license she threw away, it was the new one.

The conservation officer, however, knew she was sincere, that she had bought a new license and thought she had it with her, otherwise she wouldn't have been so eager to show it to him, so he told her he was certain she had bought a new one and would let her go this time taking her word for it. He left her fishing, but not with the peaceful feeling she always had fishing — now she had to buy another license.

The Doctor

The doctor is a busy man.
He has so much to do,
Curing all the ills he can
From broken bones to flu;
The patients in his office sit,
They call him on the phone,
He must get awfully tired of it
To hear folks whine and groan;
He gives them medicine and pills
And now and then a shot,
He tries to figure out their ills
And treat what they have got,
He tries to comfort and advise,
He listens to their woes.
He must be kind, he must be wise,
And always on his toes,
He cannot call his life his own,
Do what he wants at all
For always there's a telephone
And doctor has a call,
So let's pay tribute to all those
Who spend their lives this way,
In this profession that they chose
To work both night and day.

Arizona Worshipers Attend Easter Services Horseback

WICKENBURG, Ariz. — When the Easter sunrise breaks over the cactus-studded hills around this cowboy town, worshippers will be singing of the old rugged cross in Western style.

For the past five years, the townfolk have attended the Easter sunrise service on horseback.

The minister and the choir also are mounted.

The church is a rocky knoll in the desert west of here, the altar is a large wooden cross. The congregation sits on horseback among mesquite and palo verde trees.

The colors of the sunrise are more stirring than stained glass in any church.

Last year about 200 riders turned out from this town of about 1,700. Another 1,000 came from 13 states by car. They park several miles away and walk to the service.

All the local churches take part in the inter-denominational services. Pastors take turns conducting it each year.

The service was started in 1951 by the Wickenburg Kiwanis Club. Worshippers include ranchers, business men, desert prospectors, cowboys, housewives and vacationers at nearby dude ranches.

Silently they wait as the east shows faintly with light, then turns pink. Some wave their arms against the chill, early-morning desert air.

They remount as a sliver of sun peeps over the Bradshaw Mountains and the service begins.

"And very early in the morning of the first day of the first week they came unto the sepulcher at the rising of the sun . . ."

Re-elect Mrs. Carr T. B. Ass'n President

Mrs. A. P. Carr, California, was re-elected as president of the Montevideo County Tuberculosis Association at its annual dinner meeting on Tuesday evening. This is the second term of office for Mrs. Carr.

Other officers elected were, vice-president, Nelson Stonner; secretary, Mrs. Eunice Scott, and treasurer, Mrs. Vernon Lehman. Members elected to the board of directors were: Charles Hodler, Mrs. Herman Garnett, Mrs. Richard Rohrbach, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Edward Sappington, John Kibbe, Miss Coral Perin, Jack P. Crawford, Dr. Lionel Gallagher, Mrs. Quentin Haldiman, Mrs. Victor Gray, Alfred Lloyd, Col. Richard Rohrbach, A. P. Carr and Mrs. Mitchell Tising.

Walter Lalor, Health Director of the State TB Association, made a talk and showed a film "Everybody's Problem."

Colorado Is Color

DENVER — Legislative efforts to affix the word "colorful" to Colorado license plates were vetoed by Gov. Ed C. Johnson.

"The Spanish word 'Colorado' is strong and beautiful and literally means colorful," Johnson said. "A thousand adjectives could not adorn this expressive word."

Margaret's Fiance Survived Acid Test in News Field

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK — Letter from New York:

A lot of nice things have been said about Miss Truman's fiance, Cliff Daniel, and I am going to add to them from a particular point of view. During the big war, he ran the day news desk in the Associated Press London office, and I was on his staff for a spell. He is a quiet type, with an easy way and an off-beat sense of humor. But when necessary, he could be a hard driver, and his famous urbanity disappeared.

Nevertheless, he was unfailingly popular with his staff, a fairly acid test of a newspaperman. Or of any man.

Japanese art has had an amazing impact on this town in the past two or three years. You see the "Japanese look" all over the place.

It has affected the amount of furniture in living rooms and the number of flowers in a vase — less furniture, fewer flowers. Some new apartments have what the Japanese call "shoji," sliding panels, instead of doors on closets. A type of electric lamp shade that resembles a Japanese lantern in glass is appearing in shop windows. And so on.

This interest was well foreshadowed by the success of the Japanese house, brought here by the Museum of Modern Art. In the four months of 1954 when it was open, the house attracted 121,187 people — at 60 cents a ticket. Last summer, 101,937 went through.

It is a genuine home, shipped in sections and reassembled. The Museum directors surrounded it with a real Japanese garden.

People took off their shoes and shuffled along the highly polished floors. They saw how the Japanese gain a room by concealing their "beds" in the daytime. The simple, austere flower arrangements attracted a lot of attention.

People noted how flowers are combined with prints to decorate an alcove. A Japanese room is supremely uncluttered, bare of all but the absolute essentials. New Yorkers liked it, and some are copying it.

Joe Alex Morris has written a history of a book about the year 1929 called, "What a Year." What a year, indeed! The book mowed me down like a train because I graduated from college in 1929. The world was a lovely looking oyster then, a whole plate of oysters.

We were all going to sell stocks and bonds and play the market and be millionaires at 25, if not sooner. But October and "Black Thursday" were soon to come, and presently I was working on a newspaper for $12 a week and hugging my job for dear life.

Who can ever forget that year? Adali Stevenson was here a while back and a theatrical producer gave a cocktail party for him at a restaurant in the theater.

NEW NURSING HOME OPENED In Sedalia

The old Brockman home, 1822 South Ingram, is being completely remodeled by Jack and Mary Couts to give Sedalia another nursing home. The nursing home, which is licensed, will be known as Rest Haven, and although the remodeling and redecorating is not completed there are already four old ladies in the home.

Mary was at the Campbell Nursing Home for two years and decided that another good nursing home would be a benefit to the community. There are 14 rooms in the home and the downstairs will be for the patients who are able to get around. The living room is in wedgewood blue with a touch of pink in the oriental paper. The woodwork is all white and the decorating in all rooms is bright and cheerful. The Couts plan to later have a place so those downstairs who are up and around

Stevenson, a man seldom at a loss for words, could only run his fingers around his collar, murmuring, "Well - ah - well, I'm sure I - well, thank you very much."

Says U. S. Women More Fashionable

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

American women have the uncanny ability to "wish" themselves into any mold they choose, observes Cecil Beaton, British photographer, author, artist, designer, lecturer and actor.

"It seems to me that today all American women have high cheekbones, long, graceful legs, delicate wrists and thin hands," says Beaton, who has studied beauty of many nationalities in his capacity as official photographer to Britain's royal family.

"A generation ago nobody had high cheekbones. Now everybody has them. I don't really understand how women manage to change their actual bone structure, but apparently they do. I think it all started with somebody like Marlene Dietrich."

Beaton, in New York in connection with the opening of the Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady", for which he designed the costumes, is tall, suave, faultlessly tailored and silver-haired, with a shrewd twinkle in his blue eyes. Discussing the difference between American and British beauty, he says:

"British women are much more bound by tradition than Americans. They are more swayed by parental and family influences. And they look awful on the beach. Somehow they are not made for exposure."

"American women are much more fashionable than the British, except for the most glittering occasions. For a grand ball, an English woman can get her old lame dress out of the attic, put on her

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT
Sedalia, Missouri, Sunday Morning, March 25, 1956

Pleasant Green 4-H's See Demonstration

The Pleasant Green 4-H Club met March 15 at the home of Sue Horne. Betty Templeton gave a demonstration on how to set a table correctly for breakfast.

Wayne Templeton, president, appointed Mary Ross, chairman, Aleta Mae Chevalier and Larry Templeton on a committee to meet with other clubs to make plans for Rural Life Sunday, May 10.

Bob Mason attended the meeting and discussed several subjects. Aleta Mae Chevalier became a member again. Mary Ross and Wayne Templeton gave reports on the junior leadership council. There were nine members and seven visitors present.

The next meeting will be April 19 at the Templeton residence. The committee will report on Rural Life Sunday and make plans for it. The community leader will announce merits at this time.

may eat one meal a day together at a table. The kitchen, too, has been redecorated.

The upstairs is not yet finished. It will be for the bed patients. The house will be completely modern with a bath room on each floor, and there are three fireplaces.

In addition to the 14 rooms there are also seven rooms in the basement which Mr. and Mrs. Couts plan to fix up for a summer home for their own family. In it is a barbecue pit and it, too, is a colorful and comfortable place.

Mr. and Mrs. Couts would be happy to have anyone who would like to see Rest Haven to visit them and look around.

Actress Says Her Formula Is Busy Life

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — "If you want something done, ask a busy person."

That's the philosophy of lovely Anita Louise, who has managed to keep busy most of her life and has accomplished a great many things.

Right now she is back in the acting field again, starring in "My Friend Flicka," which is being filmed by 20th Century-Fox's TV subsidiary. She also is home-maker for her husband, Buddy Adler, new production boss of the studio. She rears two children, Melinda, 8, and Tony, 5. And she serves as president of the UCLA Medical School auxiliary.

Though she started her film career in 1924, she looks almost as young as when she was playing ingenues. The secret of her youth may be her constant activity.

"I've always kept busy," said the actress, who was a model at 3 and made her stage debut at 6. Her career continued through the silents and into the talkies.

"I left pictures in 1947 to have my family," she remarked. "But I still kept up my charity work. Now the children are going to school and they are gone most of the day. So I figured it was a good time to start acting again."

She joined Gene Evans, youngster Johnny Washbrook and the talented 4-year-old Arabian filly in "Flicka." After only a few weeks on TV, the show has been giving Rin-Tin-Tin trouble in the 7:30 Friday night spot across the nation (6:30 on the west coast).

"It's a lot of fun working again," said Anita. "We work hard—making three shows every 10 days. But then we usually get a week or so off between productions. So I get a chance to rest up and take care of my other activities."

Kinseys To East Bunceton To Reside

By Miss Emma Lee Kurtz
BUNCETON — Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Kinsey and family have moved to the residence property of Mr. and Mrs. George Harned in east Bunceton.

Mrs. William Eller had as guests Tuesday and Wednesday, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gillis Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee, Kansas City.

Mrs. Warren Cole went to Sedalia Thursday to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Johnston, who were injured in a car accident that day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Holliday spent the weekend with relatives in Kansas City.

Jackson Harroll, who underwent an appendectomy at St. Joseph's Hospital, Booneville, returned to his home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Monsees and family spent last weekend in Kansas City with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. V. Monsees.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Daniel and family, St. Louis, spent the weekend here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Daniel.

Mrs. John Fairchild returned home Thursday after a two-week visit with relatives including a sister, Mrs. T. V. Perrin and husband, Kansas City, and with her son, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Pointer and son and her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Hellenberger and family, St. Joseph.

Mrs. Sarah Spangler had as overnight guests Saturday, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith, Lamine. Additional dinner guests Sunday were another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haynes, Eldon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Layne had as weekend guests, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warren George and family, Higginsville. Sunday dinner guests also included the Rev. Harry Ford, Co-

Shapely Platinum Blonde Succeeds as Soccer Expert

ROME (AP) — A platinum blonde high school girl who has a shape like Marilyn Monroe but says she is a tomboy has stolen the Italian picture pages from film queens Gina Lollobrigida and Sophia Loren.

Out of the obscurity of a small-town schoolroom, 18-year-old Paola Bolognani burst onto the nation's television screens on a quiz program. She knows all about soccer, which Italians love as Americans do baseball.

Platinum blondes are rare in this Latin land. This one has baby-blue eyes, a mischievous grin, and 117 pounds distributed over a 5 feet 4 of height in just the way the Italians like best.

And Paola really does know all about soccer. In three weeks on Italy's most popular TV show she ran up through the 2½ million lire question. Tonight she's up to try for the top prize of five million lire ($8,300) if she wants.

Meanwhile, things have changed back in the little North Italian home in Pordenone, where Paola lives with her mother, a widowed grade school teacher.

Fan mail is pouring in at a thousand letters a day. Paola is taking it all with a grin—including the movie contract offers and "too many proposals of marriage to count."

She is finishing school this year.

Cable Brings Trouble
TRENTON, Ill. (AP) — Emory Weddel, who drove his tractor-trailer truck into a ditch in a heavy fog, tried to get it back on the road by stretching a steel cable from a winch on the truck across the busy highway to a tree.

Another big truck smashed into the steel cable and snatched Weddel's truck back onto the highway, where it jack-knifed and overturned. A car then plowed into the wreckage. Two other trucks took to a ditch to avoid the pileup. No one was seriously hurt.

Rock and Roll?
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Traffic Officer Orval Bennett, investigating an accident in which a driverless station wagon rolled backward down the driveway, asked the name of the owner. It was Rock Backward.

Lumbia, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Layne and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wendleton and family, O'Fallon, Ill., spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Hillard Tuckley and Mr. Tuckley. Mrs. Ollie Mines and Mrs. John Kubli, Sedalia, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Hillard Tuckley.

Dairy Man Is Speaker At Kiwanis

Cecil Monsees, production manager for Beatrice Foods, was the speaker Thursday noon at the Kiwanis Club at Bothwell Hotel.

Monsees, who is a member of the Kiwanis Club, was born and raised on a dairy farm near Sedalia. He then went to work in the dairy industry, which he said put him through the University of Missouri from which he received his BS degree in agriculture, so he knows the industry from all angles.

The dairy industry, he said, is a complex and interesting field. There are other fields, Monsees commented, which might offer more to a student, such as engineering, but this was the thing he wanted to follow.

The dairy industry, Monsees believes, has meant much to this country in producing a healthy and prosperous people.

The Beatrice Creamery, he said, in 1955, had 107 people on the payroll. The average number during the year is 67 to 70, but in the peak season of June, July and August, there is always a large increase. However, Monsees went on to say that people are being educated to the fact that ice cream is good all the time. The payroll for 1955, he said, is well over $300,000 and the milk purchased from the dairy farmer in this area is over $300,000 so that makes more than $600,000 that is put into the community besides the many other supplies to run the dairy.

Beatrice Creamery products manufactured in Sedalia go over a wide area—Parsons, Kan., Joplin, Springfield, West Plains, St. Joseph, Chillicothe and other places, he said. It is the fourth largest dairy holding company in the United States.

The dairy industry is going through a transition program, Monsees said, where little ones are getting smaller or going out of business and big ones are getting bigger. He stated that it was not true that the processor was getting the large share of the profit and pointed out that the producer received only two cents profit out of every dollar. With the farmer, milk is his biggest income in comparison with other products. Too much cannot be said about milk, Monsees added, because dairy products are the cheapest form of food. The food value in cottage cheese which for 21 cents would be close to 60 cents in any other food. He said that all dairy surpluses were down except cheddar cheese. The farmer and the producer, he said, must do a more efficient job to keep the price where it now is for dairy products. Ice cream is cheaper, he pointed out, than it was three or four years ago.

Dairy products are governed, Monsees told the group, by the dairy industry with many laws regulated by state, federal and city on quality of raw materials for the protection of the consuming public. Ice cream is comparatively a new product, getting its start at the World's Fair the early part of the 1900s with the first ice cream cone. The trend is now to larger containers, and it is one of the most profitable products per square foot in the store.

The speaker was introduced by Phillip McLaughlin, program chairman for the day.

Jack Shoemaker, president, conducted the meeting, with invocation by Joe Allen. Singing was led by Russell Maag, with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Ed H. McLaughlin was honored as Kiwanian of the Week, having a record of 19 years' perfect attendance. He was president of the club in 1936. For many years he was associated with the Porter Real Estate Agency and is now retired.

William Ward announced that Pancake Day would be April 7 and that he would have the tickets in a few days.

Arthur W. Klang, who has been spending the past several weeks in Texas, was welcomed back home.

Interpreting The News—US Asks Arms Curbs, Soviet Shows Air Power In London

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Two incidents of an entirely different nature, but both bearing on East-West relations, occurred in London Thursday.

The United States, still seeking a beginning for arms limitations, suggested that she and Soviet Russia equalize their armed forces below present figures.

Russia, reminding Britain of her exposed position in the event of atomic war, sent a commercial version of her famous Badger jet bombers on a nonstop flight to London and set Western aviation experts agog.

It was notice from Bulganin and Khrushchev, prior to their visit to London, of the strength Russia could display if negotiated settlements of East-West issues prove impossible.

British experts described the plane as three years ahead of anything in Britain and America. They seemed to be referring to the commercial version rather than the bomber from which it derives, but the presumption was that the same would apply to both versions.

Startled by the plane itself, the British were just plain mad about tendence. He was president of the club in 1936. For many years he was associated with the Porter Real Estate Agency and is now retired.

William Ward announced that Pancake Day would be April 7 and that he would have the tickets in a few days.

ly, would be accomplished in ratio by arms reduction itself.

Andri Gromyko made no grandstand play for Russia, merely asking questions about the various offers. You can lay odds, however, on two things, the Russians are not going to let anybody start inspecting them, and Gromyko will not let the Allies get away with making all the unacceptable offers.

In the meantime, Russia's twin-jet calling card reminds that she has not renounced the threat of force as reinforcement for her new political and economic warfare.

Room Improvement Entries Due

The entries for the contest in room improvement are due in the Extension Office on April 1. There will be separate contests for those enrolled in Home Furnishing I and those enrolled in Home Furnishing II. The contest is designed to be closer to the project requirements than it has in the past. The entrants do not need to take a whole room as their undertaking but instead may choose a unit within that room and base their work upon that unit.

Pettis County 4-H Council Square Dance

On May 5 at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria the 4-H Council will sponsor a square dance. Council President, George Buchholz is now working out the various committees to aid him in making this event a success. I hope that you will cooperate to the fullest degree in putting this event over. All 4-H clubs will be mailed a quota of tickets to sell in the near future and may request more from the Extension Office when these are sold. Any ideas on improving this event will be welcomed by the 4-H Council.

Rural Youth Organization

The Rural Youth Organization, commonly called the R.Y.O., in Pettis County is now holding a membership drive. This organization is for young rural people, married and single, 18 years of age or older. This organization is part of the official program of the cooperative Extension Service. There are no membership dues and the organization tries to provide a balance between education, recreation and community service features. This is a county wide organization and at the present time only a scant percentage of the eligible young rural farmers are being reached. If you are interested or know of anyone who might be interested please have them contact some RYO member of the County Extension Office.

TECUMSEH, Mich. (AP) — Police said that after the empty jail was locked up tight, three former prisoners broke in looking for a bottle of cognac officers confiscated from them and were caught leaving with it.

One police radio, a clock calendar, several keys, a stapling machine and a .32 caliber cartridge loader, but no cognac.

Traveling Piano

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Composer Lukas Foss didn't like the concert grand piano provided for his solo performance with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

A piano company rushed another from Belleville, Ill., 30 miles away. Foss tried it out but said he preferred the first piano after all.

The company moved the second piano back to Belleville at its own expense. "It happens all the time," a company official sighed.

US Gives Away Near-Record Food Surplus

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Reporter
WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP) — Uncle Sam is giving away food at a near-record volume to bridge the gap between surpluses and human hunger.

Such gifts now are being distributed at the monthly average of 125 million pounds, and before the end of the year the figure may be considerably larger than this. There is a good possibility that the year's volume may not be far below the two-billion-pound peak distributed in 1941.

There is one major difference between the present contributions and those made in the past. Now more than half of the food is being donated for the needy abroad. In previous high distribution periods of the '30s and early '40s—times of economic distress—the home supply went to the needy at home.

Nevertheless, three million persons in 37 states and Alaska are now getting or soon will be getting surplus foods which the Agriculture Department has accumulated under farm price support programs.

The number compares with a peak of nearly 13 million in 1939—a year of high unemployment.

Officials said the number becoming eligible for gift food is expected to increase as additional states become eligible to take part.

Many of those receiving the give away foods are elderly persons, farm families who brought to distressed conditions by prolonged drought, floods and the like, and families without regular breadwinners.

Now and then these rolls have been augmented as a result of industrial strikes.

In giving away its surplus foods to domestic consumers, the department operates through agreements with the state governments. The department furnishes the food and pays for necessary packaging and transportation to distribution centers.

The states then take over—determining who is eligible according to general standards set by the department and making the distribution to the needy through local agencies.

In outlining who should be eligible, the department says in effect it is willing to provide free food to any person whom the state itself is willing to make financial contributions for assistance. But the department says that strikers as such do not fall within a category automatically eligible for the food.

However, any person who has exhausted his means and needs help—whether he be a striker or not—is eligible for it under the department regulations.

In addition to distributions to needy persons on welfare rolls, the department donates foods to the nonprofit school lunch program and to charitable institutions and hospitals.

All states are getting surplus foods for their needy except Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Oregon, Washington and South Carolina. These states have not sought aid, officials said.

GOOD PLOWING—fast!

with McCORMICK No. 8 PLOWS

The McCormick No. 8 Plow has long been the yardstick for measuring good plow performance. McCormick Plows can be depended upon to turn good furrows in all kinds of going. Their rugged construction and proven design withstands the strains of plowing behind modern, fast-moving tractors. Ample clearance under beams and between bottoms assures a thorough job of turning and covering heavy growths of stalks, weeds and green cover crops. McCormick Plows are easy to handle in any field and easy to adjust. They do the kind of work that particular plowmen like.

Come in and see the line of McCormick Plows in our store. We have them in sizes to fit all farms and power.

Surplus Milk From US Goes To Latin American Children

IT'S "MILKING TIME" for the se Central American youngsters, om powdered U.S. surplus milk.

By NEA Foreign Service
GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (NEA) — Surplus milk from North America is showing up on the faces of Central American children these days. As one of the national and international aid agencies through which the United States is putting surplus milk stocks to use, the United Nations Children's Fund is concentrating its quota on youngsters.

Last year UNICEF sent several million pounds of the milk in skim powder form to provide more than 200,000 boys and girls in Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Panama with daily free cups of milk.

The pipeline flows to kindergartens, schools, day care centers, feeding stations and maternal and child welfare centers. Here in Guatemala City, for example, it is part of a full, free lunch that draws some 5,000 children every day.

Because milk supplies the most animal protein for the least cost, UNICEF has shipped more than 300,000 tons in the last eight years, mostly from U.S. surplus. Last year, for the first time, the U.S. furnished the milk free, with UNICEF paying only the freight. The program has inspired many of the countries to build processing plants to keep up with the new milk consumption. In 1955, the Nicaraguan milk producers' cooperative imported more than 200,000 pounds of U.S. surplus milk to expand the UNICEF program.

All countries pay half or more of the costs of the UNICEF-aided programs.

Getaway Doesn't Get

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (U) — Two men entered a hardware store and, while one asked to be shown steel sash in the rear of the store, the other went browsing.

After he had browsed away about $70 worth of merchandise, the two men ran from the store and jumped into a get-away car in which three other men were waiting.

The store got the license number as four men jumped out and slowly pushed the car down the street. Police arrested the browser.

Smoking Nuisance
LAWRENCE, Mass. (U) — If Greater Lawrence High School students want to smoke during school hours they'll still have to do it in secret.

Suggestions that a "smoking room" be set aside for students during their leisure were frowned upon by five high school principals.

Lawrence High School headmaster Augustine A. Lawlor summed up the opposition with the statement, "It would be a nuisance."

Average American Family Pays $1 Out of $4 in Taxes

By JOHN ROBBINS
NEA Special Correspondent

The average American city family with a $6,000 income spends one dollar out of four on taxes.

Here's how it's figured, based on 1955 taxes: First draw up a budget for such a typical family — father, mother and two youngsters. Then, with the help of some of the country's financial experts, study what share of that budget goes into taxes.

The total amount that ends up in the hands of some branch of the government is $1,513, or 25.2 per cent.

Of that sum, $1,018 is for direct taxes — income, real estate and sales taxes.

The rest winds up as taxes in hidden or indirect ways, such as a store's property taxes, or a manufacturer's income tax.

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer aren't aware they are paying these hidden levies when they shell out the cash for a loaf of bread, a screwdriver, or a newspaper.

But taxes are included in the bill, just as surely as though they had been itemized.

Of their total tax of $1,513, according to the breakdown, the Federal Government ends up with more than two-thirds, $1,040.

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer's home state gets $154.

Their own local governments — city or town, county, and school board — collect $268.

Other states outside their own are able to reach their long arms into Mr. Taxpayer's pocket for $24, and other local governments outside their home county for $27.

Biggest single outlay is Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer's federal income tax. They take every deduction they can, and use all their exemptions, and they still end up paying $564, nearly 10 per cent of their income.

The 3 per cent state sales tax puts a bite on them for $99. That includes the $60 paid on a new $2,000 car.

Most states with a lower sales tax or no sales tax at all make up for it with an income tax. At the $6,000 income level of the average American city family, the net result comes out about the same, one way or the other.

Other taxes on the car, such as the federal excise tax and the income tax of the dealer and the manufacturer, are figured only on the basis of the $500 in payments which the Taxpayers make during the year. About one-quarter of the total cost of the car is actually tax expense.

On only three expenditures — their hospitalization insurance, their donations to church and charity, and their union dues — does the family escape paying something in taxes.

The social security deduction from Mr. Taxpayer's pay isn't figured as a tax, since presumably he or his wife will get it back some day in the form of insurance.

The biggest percentage bite that governments put on any purchase comes on the bottle of liquor that the Taxpayers invest in about once a month. Out of the $38 budget item, $26 goes for taxes, or 68 per cent.

Other high tax items included: Movies and entertainment such as ball games, on which the Taxpayers get nicked for a 10 per cent federal admission tax. Total rate, 25 per cent.

Cigarettes, the cost of which was 46 per cent taxes:

Beer, which the Taxpayers buy in the handy take-home package, leaving 31 cents out of each dollar behind in taxes.

Lipstick and powder, which Mrs. Taxpayer considers a necessity, but on which the Federal Government slaps a 10 per cent excise tax as a luxury.

Handbag and compact, which

Mrs. Taxpayer numbers among her department store purchases. Again Uncle Sam clips her for 10 per cent.

Utility bills, an average of 27 per cent of which slips right through the fingers of the gas, electric and phone companies and comes to rest at some level of government.

The accompanying table shows how the Taxpayers' income was spent in 1955.

"Oh ho," you readers may say. "This family spent more money last year than it took in."

Well, didn't yours?

Research Team Finds Additional Evidence For Fluoridation

ST. LOUIS (U-P) — A research team from the University of Chicago says additional evidence has been found that fluoridated water reduces dental decay.

Drs. Iden N. Hill, J. Roy Blaney and Walter Wolf of the Zoller Memorial Dental Clinic reported Saturday that the fluoridation program in Evanston, Ill., started in 1946, has cut the rate of tooth decay for children 6 to 8 years old by 58 per cent.

In a paper prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the International Assn. for Dental Research, the group said the tooth decay rate for 12 to 14 year olds was about 22 per cent less. The older children didn't start drinking fluoridated water until they were about 5 years old.

Dr. John R. Sowden of the College of Physicians and Surgeons and Dr. Harry E. Frisbie of the University of California, both of San Francisco, reported the use of slaked lime has made it possible to restore badly decayed dentin, the bone-like substance under tooth enamel.

Flight Thrills Airmen
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (U-P) — What does an airman do on his day off? If he belongs to the Mather Air Force Base Aero Club, he flies.

A postman's holiday? Not at all, says Staff Sgt. William Orebaugh, when you consider that some members of the Air Force have never been up in an airplane. The club owns one small plane, stationed at a private field.

"A lot of young fellows join up with the hope of becoming red hot jet pilots," Orebaugh said, "and they are pretty disappointed when they find out some of them have to be policemen like me."

Siren Song
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U-P) — St. Louis police are used to sirens, but not in their garage. When a burglar alarm siren on a truck began sounding early in the morning, the officers couldn't figure out how to silence it so they woke up the prisoner-owner who did the job. Neither police or the truck owner could explain what started the siren, designed to prevent thefts from the truck.

WYMAN CARROLL AND FRIEND: He's after a Siberian tiger.

Russia Accepts Animal Gift Of San Diego—Even Skunks

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Even American skunks are allowed to go to Russia these days.

They're also letting in possums, raccoons, bears and cougars, and plans have been made to fly about 10 animals from the U.S. to the Moscow Zoo early next summer.

Soviet officials here have enthusiastically cleared the way, and the State Department has approved the unprecedented operation.

These furry citizens will be an outright gift of the San Diego Zoo.

"We're donating the animals to the Moscow Zoo strictly on faith, but we hope to get something in return," says Wyman Carroll, here from New Haven, Conn., to make final arrangements for the animal airlift to the Kremlin.

Carroll is a free-lance animal collector, explorer, and naturalist who originated the idea and is working in cooperation with the San Diego Zoo.

While in Russia next summer he'll try to talk the Moscow Zoo out of a pair of Siberian tigers and Saiga antelopes. If anybody can do it, he can.

This persuasive and friendly young man plays with pythons as if they were puppy dogs. He has captured rare and dangerous animals all over the world from the Congo to Indonesia. Between trips he runs a travel agency and sells insurance.

"The Siberian tiger is the largest tiger in the world and one and a half times as big as the Bengal which has received all the publicity," he explains. "It is not a tropical tiger but lives in the snow."

"As for the Saiga antelope, it has a nose like an elephant, grunts like a pig, and has horns like a goat."

The shipment of animals from the San Diego Zoo will include male and female pairs of cougar cubs, black bear cubs, possums, raccoons and skunks. They will go by plane to Helsinki, Finland, and then to Moscow.

"These are North American type animals," says Carroll. "We'll give them to the Russians no matter what they give us. They don't even have to pay for transportation."

Next August Carroll will take a group of about a dozen American college students on a tour through Russia. This will be the first trip of this kind since the Soviets lowered their travel restrictions, he says.

While in Moscow he'll have a chance to bargain for the tigers and antelopes. But regardless of the outcome, he plans to return to Russia in October and capture a Siberian tiger for himself.

Telephones May Be Put In Junior's Kiddie Car

CLIFTON, N.J.—(NEA)—"Calling 63! Calling car 63! Junior, it's time for supper. Now you come right home."

It may be a little while before mobile radios are installed in all kiddie cars, but it would seem to be inevitable. There is, at the moment, exactly one vehicle so equipped. This is a flashy yellow-and-black dump truck model, with the transmitter occupying the truck space. On the inside, right where the driver sits and pumps his (or her) pedals, there is the adult-sized equipment with which calls are made.

So far, the car hasn't taken to the sidewalks officially. It's purely a test and demonstrator rigged up by the Federal Telephone and Radio Co. It's being shown at electronic exhibits staged by the company to promote the sale of mobile radio units for grown-up uses.

But the interest it's aroused has been tremendous, and all anybody needs is a good imagination and the future seems crystal clear.

There'll be kiddie cars calling other kiddie cars for a race, kiddie cars calling home to say they'll be late for dinner, homes calling kiddie cars to say if you're late for dinner there'll be no Pinky Lee.

The present kiddie car radio can send and receive messages as far as 50 miles. It is completely legal, licensed under regulations of the Miscellaneous Common Carrier Radio Service, and it works.

There's only one problem — if the transmitter takes up the whole dump truck part of the kiddie car, where's a kid going to keep his dead frogs?

Aluminum, which has been estimated to make up 7 per cent of the earth's crust, is the world's most common metal.
